William WEBSTER was born in Liberty Township on the 2d of May, 1811, and is the son of William WEBSTER and Mary MARSH, who came to this county from New Jersey in 1806. Mr. WEBSTER was early in life engaged in the hardware business in Hamilton, in conjunction with his brother, Joseph WEBSTER, but for the last forty years has been a resident of Middletown. He has been twice married. His first wife was Maria J. KENNEDY, and he was married to her October 5, 1837. Her father's name was Joel KENNEDY, and her mother's Esther MOOREHOUSE. By her he had eight children. Albert WEBSTER was born September 26, 1838, and died on the 5th of December, 1851; Mary was born April 12, 1840, and died February 7, 1841; Joel K. was born May 29, 1843, and now lives in Kentucky; Laura J. FORD was born December 3, 1845, and lives in Texas; Charles was born November 30, 1848, and died June 27, 1868; Florence NUNNELLY was born July 29, 1852, and lives in Galveston, Texas; Thomas was born August 15, 1854, and William E. was born October 2, 1856. In a second marriage, Mr. WEBSTER was untied to Charlotte E. HOOK on the 6th of August, 1869, who has one child, Stanley, born September 30, 1876.

Mary,

606 N. 9th is our home! And yes, it is still beautiful. We have been restoring it for the last 3 years. We have torn off layers and layers of wallpaper and repaired and replastered it from ceiling to floor boards to it's original glory. We were able to restore the original entryway floor. We also put a pool and outdoor fireplace in which was designed to compliment the period of the home. Our next project is a new entryway system.

We moved to Temple in 1993 from (ironically) Indiana. We moved to San Diego in 2001 and back in 2004. That's when we purchased 606 N. 9th. My husband, William, and our 3 sons love it here. We had always admired it for years. I am currently researching the history of this magnificent home so that I can get a much deserved Texas historic marker for it.

I spent 4 hours in the library last night. With the help of a Temple historian, we were able to track all the owners of our house. The records are very difficult to research back that far. I have yet to go to the county offices for deed and tax records.

I have a few questions....
1. From what I can tell so far, Richard Foord looks to have built our home. Is that correct??? If so, what is the exact year?

2. Did Richard, Laura, Jackson, and Florence all live together here at the same time??? The city directories indicated that.

3. In 1939, a W. E. Webster resided here. Is he related to Florence Webster Nunneley??

I am so excited about this research. I would LOVE to find old Foord/Nunneley family photos and display them in the house. I have enclosed a drawing and a recent photo of our home during our historic 4th of July parade. We are board members of in the Temple Historic Preservation League. We host many neighborhood outings throughout the year on our front lawn and pool area.

Jane,
:The stone at Hillcrest Cemetery in Temple, Texas is engraved as follows:

LAURA JANE / WIFE OF CAPT.R. H. FOORD / 1845 - 1917

The online posting for Hillcrest Cemetery shows her name to be Laura Jane Nunneley, wife of Cap. R. H. Foord. This is an error. Laura Jane was the daughter of William and Mariah Webster. She married Richard H. Foord/Ford on 24 Dec 1863 in Butler County Ohio. Laura and Richard moved to Indiana by 1870 and finally to Temple, Bell Co. TX. She was the sister of Florence Webster Nunneley, wife of Jackson Baldwin Nunneley. I visited Hillcrest Cemetery in Temple several years ago (it is beautiful) and took pictures of the tombstones of the Foords and Nunneleys. The posting on the internet for Hillcrest is a great site for historians and genealogists. As a member of the White Rose Cemetery Board in Bartlesville, Oklahoma, I must tell you that "cleaning up" the records for an old cemetery is a huge job and one in which I am now involved with our Board. The following are the listings for the Foord and Nunneley stones:

Jackson Baldwin Nunneley / 1839-1907
THIS IS CORRECT

Florence / Wife of J. B. Nunneley / 1852-1928
THIS IS CORRECT

Unknown Nunneley / no dates / D.A.R.
THIS IS INCORRECT...IN FRONT OF THE LARGE NUNNELEY MARKER IS A MARKER WITH THE DAR SYMBOL AND SAYS "BETTY MARTIN CHAPTER DAR" THIS IS A MEMORIAL FOR THE MEMBERSHIP OF FLORENCE WEBSTER NUNNELEY IN DAR

Laura Jane Nunneley / 1845-1917 / wife of Cap. R. H. Foord
THIS IS INCORRECT. THE STONE ACTUALLY SAYS, LAURA JANE / WIFE OF CAPT. R. H. FOORD / 1845-1917. SHE WAS NOT A NUNNELEY, BUT A WEBSTER

Capt. R. H. Foord / 1841-1916
THIS IS CORRECT

Jackson Nunneley was a prominent citizen of Temple. From various sources I found while visiting Temple, he was involved in the following:
Owned, with L. M. Chattin, a mercantile business (they built the first brick building in Temple)
Owned paper bag companies in Austin and Galveston
Charter member of I.0.0.F / K of P / B.P.O.E
Helped organize the Temple Water Works Co.
Director of the Temple First National Bank until his death
Charter member of the Temple Compress Company / Temple Improvement Company / the Electric Light Company the Hotel Company / and the Oil Mill Company.
Charter member of the City Cemetery Company (now Hillcrest)

Hope this helps correct your information. If you ever visit Temple, do go to the cemetery and also, you can see the lovely home of Jackson and Florence at 606 North 9th. It is well maintained, or was a few years ago.

> Saw your posting concerning Sheriff James David Nunneley of Milam Co. TX, born 4 Mar 1837 in Carroll Co. AR. I doubt that the initial D stood for David. James D. had a brother David born 1824 in Hickman Co. TN, died 1843 in probably Carroll or Franklin Co. AR. James D. Nunneley was the son of Joseph Alexander Nunneley (son of Anderson Nunneley and Martha Baldwin) and Nancy Easley (dau of Thomas Easley and Ecleo Wade). I have a picture taken by Jackson Baldwin Nunneley, a photographer, brother of James D. Nunneley and it is not identified but surely a Nunneley. Contact me for further info concerning this family and a possible location to search for a picture in Bell Co. TX.

> Saw your posting concerning Sheriff James David Nunneley of Milam Co. TX, born 4 Mar 1837 in Carroll Co. AR. I doubt that the initial D stood for David. James D. had a brother David born 1824 in Hickman Co. TN, died 1843 in probably Carroll or Franklin Co. AR. James D. Nunneley was the son of Joseph Alexander Nunneley (son of Anderson Nunneley and Martha Baldwin) and Nancy Easley (dau of Thomas Easley and Ecleo Wade). I have a picture taken by Jackson Baldwin Nunneley, a photographer, brother of James D. Nunneley and it is not identified but surely a Nunneley. Contact me for further info concerning this family and a possible location to search for a picture in Bell Co. TX.

and about 1,000 feet of hose. The property of this department is estimated as worth about $15,000.

Of secret societies, and benevolent and insurance orders, there seems to be no end in Temple. The various railway brotherhoods are well represented indeed. A few of the more accessible societies may be mentioned: The Knights of Pythias, and its advanced order the Uniform Rank, the Sons of Hermann, the Ancient Order of United Workmen, the Knights of Honor, the K. O. T. M. society, the Woodmen of the World, the Temperance Council, the Masonic order, the order of Odd Fellows, the B. P. O. Elks, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the Brotherhood of Railway Brakemen and of Carmen, the Order of Railway Conductors, the International Association of Machinists, and probably a few others. No doubt the oldest lodge is that of the Masonic order, organized in 1875, before the town was founded.

The press of Temple has as its oldest representatives the Temple Daily and the Weekly Times. These were founded by W. D. Cox. and afterward combined. The successive proprietors have been Cox & Crow, Crow & Bitzer. Maxwell & Scruggs, and the present proprietor, E. M. Watson. It is the only daily in Temple, and one of two dailies in the county.

The Temple Saturday Sun was founded in December, 1888, by Thompson & Brooks, with C. F. Bradley as editor. In April, 1889, the plant was purchased by F. A. Venney and O. P. Gresham, and in June of the following year J. S. Perry became editor, and in January, 1891, secured an interest in its plant; the firm name is now Venney, Gresham & Co. The paper is strictly a local newspaper, and is dependent on local support entirely. Its plant is one of the best paying properties of the kind in the State; its local correspondence is all paid, and so made vigorous and independent.

The Schoolmate, now a weekly periodical, devoted to educational advancement, was originally founded at Belton, in October, 1891, by Crawford & Co. In February, 1892, however, it was moved to Temple, where it has since been published by the Peerless Printing Company, Coulter & Crawford, proprietors. It was at first a semi-monthly, edited by A. R. Crawford, who is still at the helm, but it was changed to a weekly in May, 1892.

Of course the various kinds of schools and churches are the pride of such a city as Temple, but these are of sufficient importance to receive separate treatment in another chapter.

J. B. Nunneley, the senior member of the firm of Nunneley & Chattin, general merchants, Temple, is accorded the following space in this history of Bell county's leading citizens. His career in Texas, covering a period of two decades, has been one of uninterrupted prosperity. He was born in Carroll county, Arkansas, October 8, 1839, a son of Joseph A. and Nancy (Easley) Nunneley. The parents were natives of Hickman county, Tennessee, but removed to Carroll county in 1836. Joseph A. Nunneley was the first or second Sheriff of the county after the admission of the State in 1836; he was an old line Whig and took an active interest in political questions. In 1845 he moved with his family to Franklin county, Arkansas, where he was extensively engaged in planting, owning many slaves. His wife died in 1850, and he was married a second time; his death occurred in 1866. During the war he was strictly neutral. He was a member of the Primitive Baptist Church.

Mr. Nunneley, the subject of this notice, received but a limited education in his youth. At the age of seventeen years he was appointed deputy district and ex-officio county Clerk of Franklin county, Arkansas, an office which he filled acceptably until the spring of 1857, when he started overland to California, believing that his fortune lay buried on the Pacific coast. He made the trip overland, driving a large herd of cattle. After his arrival in Sacramento he worked at any occupation that presented itself, until 1858, when he joined a company going to Walker's lake; this journey was undertaken on horseback, and they traveled all over California, through Oregon and up the Columbia river, when the company disbanded. Mr. Nunneley and his brother James then went to Wild Horse creek and located a ranch, where they remained until 1861; the following year they spent in different mining camps in Idaho, the brother being one of twenty-seven who spent the winter of 1860–'61 in the mines at Pierce City. At Idaho City Mr. Nunneley abandoned mining and engaged as a clerk for Baldwin Brothers; after a time he secured a position with a firm in Pioneer City, with whom he remained two years; during this time he saved some money, and in 1867 he started East, going by the Isthmus. From New York he went to Middletown, Ohio, where a sister resided. There he turned his attention to photography and was making money, when he decided to come to Texas. He was married September 3, 1870, to Miss Florence Webster, a daughter of William Webster, and Christmas day, 1871, he and his wife started to the Lone Star State. He located at Harrisville, ten miles south of Temple, and there engaged in the mercantile trade. He was Postmaster of the place from 1873 until 1880, and there laid the foundation of the business he has conducted so successfully. He had different partners from time to time, the Rev. William Thomas and T. L. Hollingsworth, both being associated with him. The firm name had been Nunneley & Co., and continued so until the removal to Temple in 1881, when L. M. Chattin was admitted to the business, and the firm became Nunneley & Chattin. They constructed the first brick building in Temple, and afterward enlarged the same to meet the demands of their growing trade. As the business increased and still more commodious quarters were necessary, they purchased the old Grange building, giving them a store-room sixty by one hundred feet; this building is one of the best in the town, fire-proof, with bank vault and all modern conveniences.

In connection with his mercantile interests, Mr. Nunneley has other investments; he at one time had in operation a paper-bag factory, the business being conducted in Austin and Galveston for a period of two years. He purchased lots at the first sale at Temple, and has lent liberal assistance to every worthy enterprise that has promised adequate in the organization of the T
Company, and the First
Temple, of which he is a di ter member of the Temple Compress Company, of the Temple Improvement Company, of the Temple City Company, the Cemetery Company, the Electric Light Company, the Hotel Company and the Oil Mill Company. He owns several residences and business houses in the town, and is one of five owners of 20,480 acres in the Pan-Handle of Texas; he is the owner of a considerable amount of real estate in other parts of Texas, and owns bank stock in other cities. The firm of Nunneley & Chaffin carries a stock valued at $20,000, and their annual business aggregates $100,000. They are both gentlemen of strict integrity of character, and have proven themselves worthy of the confidence of a wide patronage.

Mr. Nunneley was among the first Aldermen elected in the city of Temple and helped frame the laws governing the same. He is a member of the I. O. O. F., of the Knights of Pythias and of the Elks. He is a man well traveled, aside from his early wanderings, having made a trip to Philadelphia in 1876, to California in 1887 and 1891, and to Europe in 1889; he was accompanied by Mrs. Nunneley on all his tours.

Belton, the next city in size, has already been described. The other larger places will be treated in the order of their size —Holland, Killeen and Troy, which are large enough to have separate notices in the census reports. Other places of smaller size are Oenaville, Rogers, Moffat, Nolanville, Heidenheimer, Little River, and the places mentioned in the list before given.

OTHER TOWNS.

Holland is a youthful town, giving every evidence of its youth in robust and rapid development, that for its size scarcely is rivaled by the metropolis itself. Situated on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway, of which it is a recent birth, it sprang up in 1890 to a population, according to the census, of 368, the largest population given to a Bell county town outside of Temple and Belton. It has been estimated recently as high as 600 in population. Says a local writer: "As a cotton market and depot for heavy supplies it is perhaps ahead of any of the smaller towns in the county, while the general trade is better than many places of greater pretensions." Its business is represented by six houses of general merchandise, one furniture store, one hardware store, two drug stores, three blacksmith shops, two gins, and three saloons. Besides its schools and churches, it has two secret societies to represent its social life; these are a Masonic lodge and one of the order of Knights of Pythias. The town also supports a newspaper; this bears the name of The Holland Progress, and is edited by W. S. Bell.

Killeen was founded sixteen miles west of Belton, by the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fé Railway Company, and named in honor of F. P. Killeen, the secretary of that road. It also is one of the rapid growths of the railway, and in 1890 was given by the census a population of 285, although it is now estimated as high as 500. It boasts itself as being a white man's town entirely. Its business grows so fast it is hard to keep abreast of it; this will be sufficiently illustrated by the fact that it has two drug stores, two hardware stores, several merchandise stores, three gins, two blacksmiths, etc. There are excellent schools and churches to correspond. Several secret societies flourish, and among them may be mentioned the Masonic lodge, the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the Knights of Pythias, and the Knights of Honor. Killeen supports a live weekly paper also, called The Herald, under the management of William Bennett.

Troy, although now characterized as a railway town on the Missouri Pacific railway, was founded by the Elliotts before the railway period, and since the war. The railway, however, gave it its real life, and by 1890 the census gave it a population of 219, although it was then estimated to have 300 within a half mile of the depot. Even tehn it had a bank,

TEMPLE (TEXAS) TIMES / FRIDAY - 15 MARCH 1907

(Pages not numbered in this issue of newspaper)

After a short illness with acute pneumonia, J. B. Nunneley, departed from this life last Monday evening at 7:10 o'clock and was laid to rest in the City Cemetery Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The hearts of all who knew him are filled with sorrow, for by his gentle, modest and unassuming manner he made many friends and kept them. Mr. Nunneley was one of the early citizens of Temple, coming here when lots were first placed on sale and investing extensively in Temple property. At an early date, he, in connection with L. M. Chattin, engaged in the general mercantile business on old 12th St. They built and occupied the first brick building in Temple, and as their business increased the store was enlarged to meet the demands. In addition to his mecrantile business Mr. Nunneley had other interests in large tracts of western lands, and in paper bag factories located in Austin and Galveston. He was always closely identified with the city's civil and educational advancement and was one of the first aldermen of the city, in which office he helped to frame the laws governing the same. He was a charter member of the I.O.O.F, K. of P. and B.P.O.E. In the early days of Temple he was a factor in the organization of the Temple Water Works Co., and, the First National Bank of which he remained a director to the day of his death. He was a charter member of the Temple Compress Company, the Temple Improvement Co., and the City Cemetery Co., the Electric Light Co., the Hotel Co., and the Oil Mill Co.

Mr. Nunneley was born in Carroll county, Ark., Oct. 8, 1839. In 1870 he was married to Miss Florence Webster of Chicago and in 1871 he and his wife came to Texas, locating at Harrisville where Mr. Nunneley engaged in photography a short while before entering the mercnatile business. During all the twenty-five years of his residence in Temple, Mr. Nunneley has taken a keen interest in all her enterprises and he was one of the first trustees of the Carnegie Library Association, to which he has made several donations. Temple has lost one of her oldest and best citizens and as an expression of the high esteem in which he was held all business was suspended during the funeral hours Wednesday morning. Funeral srevices were conducted by the Knights of Pythias, with short and eloquent tributes to his life by Judge W. S. Lemly, and Judge W. S. Banks. The floral offerings were many, and beautiful. The active pall bearers were:

Messrs L. M. Chattin, T. L. Hollingsworth, F. F. Downs, P. L. Downs, W. S. Banks and Geo. E. Willcox. The honorary pall bearers were: W. H. Stegall, H. L. Sherrill, H. M. McCelvey, C. B. Hutchison, A. P. Bentley and F. P. Hamill.

J. W. Roper is at home again after spending the winter representing the J. I. Case Thresher Co. in Canada. He says the weather has been very severe up there, a few people as well as thousands of cattle freezing to death. His son, Hughes, from Colorado came home with him.

MRS. J. B. NUNNELEY DIES

Widow Of One Of Early Founders Of City Was Long Prominent In Progress Of Temple

Mrs. J. B. Nunneley, prominent in the annals of Bell county for more than half a century, and widow of a successful early day business man who aided in a large way in Temple's building, died at 2:30 a.m. Friday after an illness of several months.

Mr. and Mrs. Nunneley came to Bell county in 1871 and first settled at Harrisville, a community that was 10 miles south of the present site of Temple. He was a merchant there and from 1873 to 1880 was postmaster there, laying the foundation for his future success. Among his business partners at old Harrisville were Rev. William Thomas and T. L. Hollingsworth. He and Mrs. Nunneley moved to Temple when the town was started in 1881 and together built up much success with the growing town and a considerable fortune. Mr. Nunneley built the first brick building in Temple, was a city councilman for many years, was an aid in organising the waterworks and scores of other projects for the building of Temple and Temple institutions.

Among the early day organizations bearing his name as a charter member were the Temple compress company, the Temple Improvement company, the Cemetery company, the Electric Light company, the Hotel company, the Oil Mill company and others. He was one of those who organized the First National Bank and was a director of it. The pioneer firm of Nunneley and Chattin did an annual business of $100,000, a high figure in those days.

Mrs. Nunneley was his companion in his success and she also traveled with him a great deal in trips over this country and to Europe.

After his death she continued as nearly as possible his forward and progressive policies toward the town and community and among the largest recent public gifts made to Temple was the gift of Mrs. Nunneley to the Y.M.C.A. of a fine tile swimming pool.

Her maiden name was Miss Florence Webster and she was born, July 29, 1852, in Middletown, Ohio, the daughter of William and Jane Webster. Of a family of seven, all are dead except one brother, Wm. E. Webster of Chicago, Ill., who was here at her bedside when the end came. Other relatives here are Miss Helen R. Webster of Chicago, Mrs. Harry Smith, of Middleton, Ohio, her two nieces, Adrian N. Webster of Hereford, Tex., a nephew. Mrs. Nunneley was married to Mr. Nunneley at Middletown, Ohio, Sept. 3, 1870 and on Christmas day, 1871, they came to Texas, settling in Bell county.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence, 606 North Ninth street, conducted by Rev. T. Edgar Neal, pastor of the First Methodist church. Active pallbearers will be: P. L. Downs Sr., J. C. Mitchell, W. S. Rowland, G. E. McCelvey, R. O. Culp, James Paton.

Honorary pallbearers will be: Dr. L. W. Pollok, A. C. Buchanan, H. M. McCelvey, W. O. Cox, G. E. Byars, J. B. Gregory, Dr. T. F. Bunkley, Dr. P. H. Brown, E. B. Greathouse, F. L. Denison, A. J. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence, 606 North Ninth street, conducted by Rev. T. Edgar Neal, pastor of the First Methodist church. Active pallbearers will be: P. L. Downs Sr., J. C. Mitchell, W. S. Rowland, G. E. McCelvey, R. O. Culp, James Paton.

Honorary pallbearers will be: Dr. L. W. Pollok, A. C. Buchanan, H. M. McCelvey, W. O. Cox, G. E. Byars, J. B. Gregory, Dr. T. F. Bunkley, Dr. P. H. Brown, E. B. Greathouse, F. L. Denison, A. J. $4.50 to $4.85, a few common cattle at $4 to $4.40, and some canners at $3.75. Stags brought $4.25 today, no bulls here, but a good many last week at $3.40 to $3.75. Cows and calves scarce in quarantine division, cows $3.40 to $4, veals today at $7. In the Native division the market advanced 15 to 20 cents last week, but is steady to a shade lower today. Demand is extra heavy for good weighty feeders, the impression being general that prospects are extra good for the future of the fat cattle market.

Ho[illegible] much smaller than [illegible] running a few weeks ago, supply 6000 today, market [illegible] to 10 lower. Prices seem to be on the down grade, although the chief source of weakness today comes from a big run at Chicago, and a break in prices there. Packers hang together in their present effort to put the market down, and only on one or two days last week were salesmen able to scorce the advantage. The continued weakness of provisions, together with assertions of packers that nothing can be put into their cellars with profit at prevailing prices makes their stand more o[illegible], and the trade generally looks for little improvement in the situation. Top today is $6.87½, bulk $6.72½ to $6.80.

Mutton receipts were liberal last week, but there was a strong demand and the market advanced 15 to 20 cents during the week. The run is small today at 4000 head, market 10 to 15 cents higher. The best lambs here today were Nebraskas, at $7.55, weighing 78 pounds. Some 64 pound lambs sold at $7.40 today, but the market was not tested on any other class. Yearlings are worth $6.25 to $6.75, wethers $5.50 to $5.90, ewes $5 to $5 50, feeding lambs in strong demand at $6.50 to $6.90.

After an illness of ten days with pneumonia, W. H. Taylor, departed this life at his home near Pendletonville, Sunday morning at 1:10 o'clock.

The remains were brought to Temple to the home of his son. John Taylor on North Third Street, where at 10 o'clock Monday morning funeral services were conducted by the Rev. A. W. Hall of the Seventh Street Methodist church. Interment took place in the city cemetery. Deceased was sixty years of age. and had lived for more than forty years in Bell County, and has been identified with its interests in many ways. Deceased is survived by a widow and nine children, all of whom were in attendance at the funeral.

Son of Emil Hartmann.

Monday night at the home of his mother in Houston occurred the death of the infant son of Mr. Emil Hartmann. The little one's remains were brought to Temple on the North bound Katy Wednesday afternoon and were interred in the City Cemetery by the side of its mother whose death occurred three months ago. The stricken father has the sincere sympathy of all in his great loss.

After a short illness with acute pneumonia, J. B. Nunneley, departed from this life last Monday evening at 7:10 o'clock and was laid to rest in the City Cemetery Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. MRS. J. B. NUNNELEY DIES

Widow Of One Of Early Founders Of City Was Long Prominent In Progress Of Temple

Mrs. J. B. Nunneley, prominent in the annals of Bell county for more than half a century, and widow of a successful early day business man who aided in a large way in Temple's building, died at 2:30 a.m. Friday after an illness of several months.

Mr. and Mrs. Nunneley came to Bell county in 1871 and first settled at Harrisville, a community that was 10 miles south of the present site of Temple. He was a merchant there and from 1873 to 1880 was postmaster there, laying the foundation for his future success. Among his business partners at old Harrisville were Rev. William Thomas and T. L. Hollingsworth. He and Mrs. Nunneley moved to Temple when the town was started in 1881 and together built up much success with the growing town and a considerable fortune. Mr. Nunneley built the first brick building in Temple, was a city councilman for many years, was an aid in organising the waterworks and scores of other projects for the building of Temple and Temple institutions.

Among the early day organizations bearing his name as a charter member were the Temple compress company, the Temple Improvement company, the Cemetery company, the Electric Light company, the Hotel company, the Oil Mill company and others. He was one of those who organized the First National Bank and was a director of it. The pioneer firm of Nunneley and Chattin did an annual business of $100,000, a high figure in those days.

Mrs. Nunneley was his companion in his success and she also traveled with him a great deal in trips over this country and to Europe.

After his death she continued as nearly as possible his forward and progressive policies toward the town and community and among the largest recent public gifts made to Temple was the gift of Mrs. Nunneley to the Y.M.C.A. of a fine tile swimming pool.

Her maiden name was Miss Florence Webster and she was born, July 29, 1852, in Middletown, Ohio, the daughter of William and Jane Webster. Of a family of seven, all are dead except one brother, Wm. E. Webster of Chicago, Ill., who was here at her bedside when the end came. Other relatives here are Miss Helen R. Webster of Chicago, Mrs. Harry Smith, of Middleton, Ohio, her two nieces, Adrian N. Webster of Hereford, Tex., a nephew. Mrs. Nunneley was married to Mr. Nunneley at Middletown, Ohio, Sept. 3, 1870 and on Christmas day, 1871, they came to Texas, settling in Bell county.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence, 606 North Ninth street, conducted by Rev. T. Edgar Neal, pastor of the First Methodist church. Active pallbearers will be: P. L. Downs Sr., J. C. Mitchell, W. S. Rowland, G. E. McCelvey, R. O. Culp, James Paton.

Honorary pallbearers will be: Dr. L. W. Pollok, A. C. Buchanan, H. M. McCelvey, W. O. Cox, G. E. Byars, J. B. Gregory, Dr. T. F. Bunkley, Dr. P. H. Brown, E. B. Greathouse, F. L. Denison, A. J. (Associated Press Dispatch)

LONDON, Jan. 27.—The Daily Express, which is avowedly hostile to British commitments to Zionism in Palestine, featured today what it represented to be the complete failure of the Zionist movement [illegible]

[illegible] "what may be the [illegible] in the tragedy of a still-[illegible]ation are now being enacted."

It cited figures from the Palestine administration report for the three months ending September 30 and other data intended to show that there is general commercial and financial stagnation, widespread unemployment, falling revenue and internal strife.

Among other things the paper said: "Perhaps the darkest fact of the situation is the virtual cessation of financial relief from Zionist sources outside of Palestine. The main stream from the United States appears to have dried up and it is reported that the failure of remittances from that quarter has been so complete that the Zionist organization found itself compelled at the end of November to cease the weekly doles which it had been paying to the unemployed. Unless immediate aid is forthcoming a large section of the Palestine Jews will be on the verge of starvation."

[illegible] 27.—Assertions by the London Daily Express that the complete failure of the Zionist movement in Palestine is imminent and that American contributions to the cause have virtually ceased were denied today by Meyer W. Weisgal, secretary of the Zionist organization in America.

"Contributions from the United States have increased annually since the first appeal for funds was made," he said. "Last year's total gifts exceeded by $400,000 the total of 1926. Within a few days we will announce one of the largest money gifts the cause has yet received in America."

Mr. Weisgal denied also the assertion of the Express that the dole to unemployed in Palestine had been stopped.

Four thousand workers are unemployed, he said, which number represents about three per cent of the total number of Jewish workers in Palestine. Plans are underway, however, for the development of commerce and industries, he explained, which would give employment to those now not working.

[illegible] police of Dallas and Highland Park and the pick of private detectives were ransacking the city and its exclusive suburb tonight in search of the sender of threats against the life of 5-year-old Fay Munger, daughter of LeRoy Munger, Jr., Highland Park insurance man. The boy, Clarence Pennington, was in the bathroom when he heard a thud in the adjoining room. He rushed out, and his mother, Mrs. C. H. Pennington, had collapsed on the floor with the baby brother in her arms. She had felt ill, and had tried to leave the room when the fumes overcame her.

Clarence dragged his mother and brother into the open air, and then returned to call his sister, gladys, 14. She was unable to get out of bed, so he carried her out. Then he summoned neighbors.

Mrs. Pennington and the baby were ill today, but the older children showed no ill effects.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MATTHEW

CHAPTER 28

Now [illegible]th day, as it [illegible] toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre. And behold, there was a great earthquake; for an angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled away the stone, and sat upon it. His appearance was as lightning, and his raiment white as snow: and for fear of him the watchers did quake, and became as dead men. And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye; for I know that ye seek Jesus, who hath been crucified. He is not here; for he is risen, even as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay. And go quickly, and tell his disciples, He is risen from the dead; and lo, he goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him: lo, I have told you. And they departed quickly from the tomb with fear and great joy, and ran to bring his disciples word. And behold, Jesus met them, saying, All hail. And they came and took hold of his feet, and worshipped him. Then saith Jesus unto them, Fear not: go tell my brethren that they depart into Galilee, and there shall they see me.

Now while they were going, behold, some of the guard came into the city, and told unto the chief priests all the things that were come to pass. And when they were assembled with the elders, and had taken counsel, they gave much money unto the soldiers, saying, Say ye, His disciples came by night, and stole him away while we slept. And if this come to the governor's ears, we will persuade him, and rid you of care. So they took the money, and did as they were taught; and this saying was spread abroad among the Jews, and continueth until this day.

But the eleven disciples went into Galilee, unto the mountain where Jesus had appointed them. And when they saw him, they worshipped him; but some doubted. And Jesus came to them and spake unto they, saying, All authority hath been given unto me in heaven and on earth. Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of and Holy Spirit: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you: and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the

The many friends of Mrs. Kate Alma Orgain, our talented Southern writer, will rejoice with her over her success in regard to her book on "Southern Literature.." For several years Mrs. Orgain has labored long and hard over this work, collecting data of writers long forgotten, searching for copies of their works, many of them now out of print, and copies of their portraits. The task has been an arduous one, but by her patriotic zeal, and her great desire to prove to the world, that the South has a right to recognition in the hall of fame in literary lines, Mrs. Orgain's efforts have been most successful and today, she has, probably, the largest and finest collection of portraits and rare works of early southern writers, of any individual in the South.

Mrs. Orgain's work on Southern Literature will be brought out in a few weeks by the Ne'l Publishing Co. of Washington could we learn the best method of ordering our own lives? For our years would hardly be sufficient to enable us to buy all our wisdom by experience.

The above committees have been appointed by the respective chairmen from those who have signed their names as members of the Arbor Association.–

Our object is to create a greater interest in the growing of trees and flowers, not only in Temple, but throughout the State. Trees add beauty to the landscape, breathe health to the air, and beneficially effect the rainfall. We hope in a few years to have a beautiful arbor vitæ hedge supplant the neglected fence around the public square.

On the evening of the 21st, the Opera House will be tastefully decorated with cedar and arbor vitæ branches, flowers and bunting, by Mr. Kone and his committee.

Professor Hamner has divided the school into five divisions, as follows: Room No. 1, Lula Walton; Room No. 2, Annie Dickeg; Room No. 3, Edna Simpson; Room No. 4, Robbie Wade; Room No 5, Ruby Irvin. Each division will raise sufficient money to buy for itself one or more arbor vitæ or live oak trees, for planting in the public square.

The Business Houses, Churches and Societies, as also the ladies and gentlemen of town are asked each to donate an evergreen or live oak. They should be planted at once, in boxes. We hope to fill the Opera House stage and aisles with these beautiful growing evergreens. Each tree must carry the date of planting and the giver's name.

On February 22d, these boxes of evergreens will be set out in the Park, preferably along the fence as the beginning of a hedge, or elsewhere, if the donor desires. Each donor is expected to water and care for his tree during the dry summer, and to see that it excels the others in growth and beauty. A register will be found in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. containing a complete list of the trees and the giver's name.

To become a member of the "Arbor Association," it is necessary to plant a tree during the fall or winter, up to the 22d of February of each year. All members, and those desiring to become such, will please immediately confer with the Secretary of the Association, giving number of trees planted, variety, size, date, etc. This list will be read out at the celebration on the 21st of February. A Carriage will take a committee of school children through the city on February 21st, and each young tree—this year's planting—will be girdled with a red ribbon. Look well to it, that they are not forced to pass by your home.

Throughout the length and breadth of the State has gone forth the report that Temple has taken the initiative in Arbor Day. See to it, that we make this a notable event and the starter of lasting benefits.

president and agent of the Red Cliff Silver Mining Company of Colorado, with office and head-quarters in Topeka, Kansas. Formerly he was a clergyman in good standing of the Baptist denomination, but health failing he was compelled to relinquish his position.

Mr. F. J. Tytus is now in his seventy-seventh year, and is a remarkably well-preserved man. He is found almost every day in his office attending to the duties devolving upon him as president of the Tytus Paper Company, and is quite extensively known as "the great paper manufacturer." Mr. Tytus has a fine reputation as a business man, and his career in Middletown stands above reproach. In 1848 he purchased a beautiful farm in the suburbs of the city, on which he erected a handsome and commodious residence, where he now resides, surrounded by every evidence of refinement and affluence.

Daniel Brown Vail was born September 6, 1853, in Madison Township. He is a sign and ornamental painter. His parents were William W. Vail and Lucinda Brown, both natives of this county. He was married October 29, 1879, to Minnie R. Olden, daughter of David Olden and Celia Folk. She was born in Greenville, Darke County, February 13, 1858. To this union one child, Blanche E., was born December 26, 1880. In 1872 he went to Buffalo to learn a trade in the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad shops, where he stayed until the Spring of 1878, when he came back to Middletown, going into business for himself. He also makes excellent portraits.

Hugh P. Vail was born in Middletown September 17, 1843. His parents, Hugh Vail and Jane Porter, came here in 1800. At the age of sixteen he went to farming, continuing at this till he was thirty years old, when he went to teaming. He now constantly employs three teams. He was married December 7, 1871, in Warren County, to Alice R. Crane, who was born in that county May 14, 1851. Her parents were Samuel R. Crane and Ellen Jane Dearth.

William Webster was born in Liberty Township on the 2d of May, 1811, and is the son of William Webster and Mary Marsh, who came to this county from New Jersey in 1806. Mr. Webster was early in life engaged in the hardware business in Hamilton, in conjunction with his brother, Joseph Webster, but for the last forty years has been a resident of Middletown. He has been twice married. His first wife was Maria J. Kennedy, and he was married to her October 5, 1837. Her father's name was Joel Kennedy, and her mother's Esther Moorehouse. By her he had eight children. Albert Webster was born September 26, 1838, and died on the 5th of December, 1851; Mary was born April 12, 1840, and died February 7, 1841; Joel K. was born May 29, 1843, and now lives in Kentucky; Laura J. Ford was born December 3, 1845, and lives in Texas; Charles was born November 30, 1848, and died June 27, 1868; Florence Nunnelly was born July 29, 1852, and lives in Galveston, Texas; Thomas was born August 15, 1854, and William E. was born October 2, 1856. In a second marriage Mr. Webster was united to Charlotte E. Hook on the 6th of August, 1869, who has one child, Stanley, born September 30, 1876.

George P. Webster, the nephew of Mr. Webster, served during the whole of the Mexican War. He also was in the War of the Rebellion, being shot at the battle of Mill Springs. His rank was that of colonel, but he was in command of the brigade at that time. Mr. Webster is now engaged in the manufacture of paper bags, inventing the machinery himself, and employing sixty or seventy employees, mostly girls. The factory was built in 1873, but was destroyed by fire on the 6th of November, 1880. This was Saturday night, but by a week from Tuesday it was again in motion as before, new quarters having been temporarily found.

Charles M. Williams, teacher, was born in Jo Daviess County, Ill., October 11, 1856. His father is William N. Williams and his mother Elizabeth J. Williams. His grandfather, David Lloyd, was a private soldier under General Taylor in the Mexican War. An uncle, William Lloyd, orderly sergeant of a company in the Guthrie Grays, died of typhoid fever at Bowling Green, Ky., in 1862. James M. Lloyd, another uncle, served three years in the Seventy-fifth Ohio, being in seventeen set battles. Charles M. Williams lived in Illinois until he was six years old, when he was removed to Warren County in this State, then being on a farm until 1875, when on the 26th of October, 1875, he came to Middletown, where he was for seven years engaged in teaching school. Joseph Wickoff was born in New Jersey, on the 12th of December, 1802, coming to this county in 1821. His parents were Samuel Wickoff and Vesta Irton. Mr. Wickoff was married on the 8th of November, 1838, to Eleanor Barklow, daughter of Tobias Barklow and Elizabeth Jeems, who came to Butler in 1806. They have had six children—Vashti, Rebecca, Tobias, Henry, Sarah, and Joseph. Rebecca and Henry are deceased. The latter was in the army, but he was never heard of afterwards, and it is supposed he is dead. Tobias Wickoff was in the hundred-days' service.

J. B. Nunneley

reared a family of nine children. R. H. being the eighth-born: the father was a gardener and followed that occupation until his death, in 1890; the mother died in 1882. Young Foord attended school in England until his seventeenth year, when he crossed the sea to America, to try his fortune in the New Republic; he located at Elmwood, Illinois, and there began to serve an apprenticeship at the carpenter's trade. He went from this place to Middletown, Ohio, in 1861, and soon afterward took up arms in defense of the country of his adoption; he enlisted in the Twelfth Ohio Volunteer Infantry for a term of three months, and at the expiration of that time re-enlisted in the Thirty-fifth Ohio Volunteer Infantry, Company K, Captain Joel Deardorff, Colonel F. Van Deveer. His regiment was the first to cross the Ohio river into Kentucky and participated in the battle of Mill Spring, where General Zollicoffer was killed; thence he went to Nashville, Tennessee, and afterward followed Bragg's army to Louisville, Kentucky. He went into Ohio on recruiting service and afterward rejoined his regiment ar Resaca, Georgia, and was in all the battles of the Georgia compaign, as Orderly Sergeant of Company K; after the battle of Chickamagua he was promoted to the office of First Lieutenant, Company F, this honor being conferred in recognition of gallantry in the field; the Captain was slain, the Lieutenant absent, and Mr. Foord had the command of his company; after two days of battle he was wounded and taken prisoner; he was paroled after nine days, was sent to Camp Chase, and at the end of five months was exchanged. Before leaving Ohio he was married to Miss Laura J. Webster of Middletown, Ohio. He joined his command at Chattanooga, just after the battle of Missionary Ridge. His term of service expired at Atlanta, in 1864, and he was sent to Chattanooga where he was mustered out; he then went to Middletown, Ohio, and was a resident of Indiana until 1876, living at Richmond and Indianapolis.

When Mr. Foord came to Texas, in 1876, he located at Austin and engaged in the manufacture of paper bags; he removed to Galveston and remained there two years. After the sale of town lots at Temple he came to this place and engaged in contracting and building; he erected many of the dwellings and business houses, and conducted a successful business until 1883. He was then employed as bookkeeper for Nunneley & Chattin, a position he still holds. He was appointed Postmaster of Temple, March 3, 1889, by President Harrison; the office is well conducted and the prompt attention of all clerks gives universal satisfaction to the patrons. Mr. Foord has served as a delegate to the State and county conventions of the Republican party, He is commander of Starling Post, No. 21, G. A. R., and takes an active interest in the organization; he is also a member of the I. O. O. F. and of the Elks. He owns a pleasant home in Temple and a considerable amount of town property.

G. W. PITTMAN, jeweler, Gatesville, Texas, is one of the prosperous business men and highly respected citizens of the town.

Mr. Pittman was born in middle Tennessee, April 1, 1853, the second in a family of four children. His parents, Thomas and Mary Ann (Haney) Pittman, natives of South Carolina, went to Tennessee in their youth, and grew up and married in that State. The father died in Tennessee, in 1874. He was a merchant. During the war he served for a time as Conscripting Officer for the Confederate Government. He was a Master Mason and a man who stood high in the community in which he resided. The mother was married a second time. Her death occurred in 1878. Grandfather David H. Pittman, a native of South Carolina, went to Tennessee at an early day. He was a pioneer farmer, school teacher and physician.

The subject of our sketch received his education in Tennessee. In 1877 he came to Texas, and for some time traveled over various portions of the State. Finally settling down in here. The most of this time he has been in Gatesville, and many of the largest buildings here, both business houses and residences, have been erected by him. He also built his own home, which is among the attractive places of the town. Mr. Gregg owns a ranch of 716 acres, on Cowhouse creek, 125 acres being under cultivation.

He was married in 1872, to Miss Phetna Newland, a native of Indiana, who came with her parents to Texas when a girl. They have six children: Florence, James Robert, Phetna Gertrude, Samuel Bertie, Emma Alma and W. B. Mrs. Gregg is a member of the Christian Church. Fraternally, Mr. Gregg is associated with the Knights of Honor.

A. W. RUSSELL has been a resident of McLennan county, Texas, since 1854, and his example of industry, and earnest and sincere endeavor to succeed in life, especially in the occupation of farming, are well worthy of imitation. He was born in Saline county, Missouri, September 21, 1851, the seventh of nine children born to James T. and Eva M. (Smouse) Russell, who were natives of Maryland, in the mountainous regions of which State the father followed the occupation of farming. In 1847, he removed to Saline county, Missouri, and five years later to Mount Calm, Limestone county, Texas, where he purchased a tract of land and resided on the same for two years. At the end of this time he came to McLennan county and settled on a farm that is now occupied by the subject of this sketch, containing 320 acres. In 1861, the father was called from life, and the mother only survived her husband till 1879.

When a lad, A. W. Russell was brought by his parents to this section of country, and here he has spent the greater portion of his life, and closely identified himself with its advancement and growth. He very faithfully assisted his father on the farm throughout his youth, and now owns 130 acres of the home place, besides 500 acres of land in another tract, of which 250 acres are under cultivation, the annual out-put being from sixty to eighty bales of cotton. At the age of fourteen years he started out in life for himself as a dealer in stock, and by good management he soon had a large herd of horses and cattle. After following this occupation for about fifteen years, he gradually took up farming, and to this occupation has devoted his attention ever since. Prior to the death of his father he was given good educational advantages, but all the education he has since received has been obtained by contact with the world, the business affairs of life, and by reading. He was first married, in March, 1873, to Miss Emma L. Westmoreland, daughter of William W. and Pernesia M. (Fuller) Westmoreland, but February 5, 1890, he was called to mourn her death. She left four children: Allie, born in 1874, became the wife of Frank Shaw, and is now deceased; James H., Colonel and Daniel. Mr. Russell took for his second wife, Miss Lula M. Luten, daughter of W. A. and Elizabeth (Wagner) Luten, whose parents, moved from Missouri to Texas, in 1874, and, after renting land for two years in DeWitt county, purchased a farm in McLennan county, on which the mother died in 1890. The father now resides in Hill county. Mr. Russell has one child by his present wife, Ray by name, who was born October 4, 1891.

Mr. Russell has held the office of Deputy Sheriff of the county for nine consecutive years, and the office of School Trustee for fifteen years. He is a member of Liberty Grove Lodge, No. 475, of the A. F. and A. M., at West, of which order he is a charter member. He supports the principles of Democracy, and is wide-awake and public-spirited.

Mary,

606 N. 9th is our home! And yes, it is still beautiful. We have been restoring it for the last 3 years. We have torn off layers and layers of wallpaper and repaired and replastered it from ceiling to floor boards to it's original glory. We were able to restore the original entryway floor. We also put a pool and outdoor fireplace in which was designed to compliment the period of the home. Our next project is a new entryway system.

We moved to Temple in 1993 from (ironically) Indiana. We moved to San Diego in 2001 and back in 2004. That's when we purchased 606 N. 9th. My husband, William, and our 3 sons love it here. We had always admired it for years. I am currently researching the history of this magnificent home so that I can get a much deserved Texas historic marker for it.

I spent 4 hours in the library last night. With the help of a Temple historian, we were able to track all the owners of our house. The records are very difficult to research back that far. I have yet to go to the county offices for deed and tax records.

I have a few questions....
1. From what I can tell so far, Richard Foord looks to have built our home. Is that correct??? If so, what is the exact year?

2. Did Richard, Laura, Jackson, and Florence all live together here at the same time??? The city directories indicated that.

3. In 1939, a W. E. Webster resided here. Is he related to Florence Webster Nunneley??

I am so excited about this research. I would LOVE to find old Foord/Nunneley family photos and display them in the house. I have enclosed a drawing and a recent photo of our home during our historic 4th of July parade. We are board members of in the Temple Historic Preservation League. We host many neighborhood outings throughout the year on our front lawn and pool area.

> Saw your posting concerning Sheriff James David Nunneley of Milam Co. TX, born 4 Mar 1837 in Carroll Co. AR. I doubt that the initial D stood for David. James D. had a brother David born 1824 in Hickman Co. TN, died 1843 in probably Carroll or Franklin Co. AR. James D. Nunneley was the son of Joseph Alexander Nunneley (son of Anderson Nunneley and Martha Baldwin) and Nancy Easley (dau of Thomas Easley and Ecleo Wade). I have a picture taken by Jackson Baldwin Nunneley, a photographer, brother of James D. Nunneley and it is not identified but surely a Nunneley. Contact me for further info concerning this family and a possible location to search for a picture in Bell Co. TX.

Jane,
:The stone at Hillcrest Cemetery in Temple, Texas is engraved as follows:

LAURA JANE / WIFE OF CAPT.R. H. FOORD / 1845 - 1917

The online posting for Hillcrest Cemetery shows her name to be Laura Jane Nunneley, wife of Cap. R. H. Foord. This is an error. Laura Jane was the daughter of William and Mariah Webster. She married Richard H. Foord/Ford on 24 Dec 1863 in Butler County Ohio. Laura and Richard moved to Indiana by 1870 and finally to Temple, Bell Co. TX. She was the sister of Florence Webster Nunneley, wife of Jackson Baldwin Nunneley. I visited Hillcrest Cemetery in Temple several years ago (it is beautiful) and took pictures of the tombstones of the Foords and Nunneleys. The posting on the internet for Hillcrest is a great site for historians and genealogists. As a member of the White Rose Cemetery Board in Bartlesville, Oklahoma, I must tell you that "cleaning up" the records for an old cemetery is a huge job and one in which I am now involved with our Board. The following are the listings for the Foord and Nunneley stones:

Jackson Baldwin Nunneley / 1839-1907
THIS IS CORRECT

Florence / Wife of J. B. Nunneley / 1852-1928
THIS IS CORRECT

Unknown Nunneley / no dates / D.A.R.
THIS IS INCORRECT...IN FRONT OF THE LARGE NUNNELEY MARKER IS A MARKER WITH THE DAR SYMBOL AND SAYS "BETTY MARTIN CHAPTER DAR" THIS IS A MEMORIAL FOR THE MEMBERSHIP OF FLORENCE WEBSTER NUNNELEY IN DAR

Laura Jane Nunneley / 1845-1917 / wife of Cap. R. H. Foord
THIS IS INCORRECT. THE STONE ACTUALLY SAYS, LAURA JANE / WIFE OF CAPT. R. H. FOORD / 1845-1917. SHE WAS NOT A NUNNELEY, BUT A WEBSTER

Capt. R. H. Foord / 1841-1916
THIS IS CORRECT

Jackson Nunneley was a prominent citizen of Temple. From various sources I found while visiting Temple, he was involved in the following:
Owned, with L. M. Chattin, a mercantile business (they built the first brick building in Temple)
Owned paper bag companies in Austin and Galveston
Charter member of I.0.0.F / K of P / B.P.O.E
Helped organize the Temple Water Works Co.
Director of the Temple First National Bank until his death
Charter member of the Temple Compress Company / Temple Improvement Company / the Electric Light Company the Hotel Company / and the Oil Mill Company.
Charter member of the City Cemetery Company (now Hillcrest)

Hope this helps correct your information. If you ever visit Temple, do go to the cemetery and also, you can see the lovely home of Jackson and Florence at 606 North 9th. It is well maintained, or was a few years ago.

From 1969–1979, Rev. Albert Michalik served the church. For a few months Chaplain James Parks served the church until the present pastor, Rev. Mark Labaj came to serve full-time. The church now has 236 members.

The church gives support to community agencies such as the Temple Family Services, TreeHouse, Half-way House, Harvest House, Veterans Administration volunteer services, U.S.O., the nursing homes, and other projects through the local organization of the church women of Temple.

Christ Episcopal Church

In 1883, about 15 Episcopalians in the two-year-old town of Temple began meeting for worship in schools and vacant store buildings. They were assisted by itinerate missionary priests such as Rev. Mr. Wey and Rev. Mr. Hogue.

In 1887, in cooperation with the Rt. Rev. Alexander Gregg, bishop of the Diocese of Texas, they secured a lot on present Fifth Street near Avenue A and in 1890, erected a small, simple frame building. It was designed by a devout Episcopalian, Mrs. Seaborn Green, who also suggested a name for the mission: Christ Episcopal Church. Rev. J.A. Duncan became first missionary priest for Temple in 1889, also serving other area missions and churches. In 1892, the mission was admitted to council in the Diocese of Texas.

In a town with a large itinerant population of railway workers, the church grew slowly,but several major developments occurred during the ministry of the Rev. Thomas J. Sloan, 1899–1906. The church building and rectory was moved to Calhoun Avenue between Main and First Streets in 1901. In 1902, Christ Church was admitted to council as a parish, and in 1904–1905 the present church buildling was erected at the corner of North Main Street and Calhoun Avenue. It was constructed of Bell County hard limestone in a Gothic Revival style resembling a typical English parish church. In 1913, the debt on the building was paid, and it was dedicated and consecrated by the Rt. Rev. George Herbert Kinsolving, Bishop of the Diocese of Texas.

The church barely held its own until 1930 when the Rev. Joseph B. Dobbins became rector. The church grew in numbers, activities and spiritual attainments, and was financially sound. Several innovations were introduced, such as publishing a weekly parish bulletin and conducting Christmas Eve midnight services. World War II presented new challenges and opportunities, with Camp Hood nearby and an army hospital in Temple. Christ Church had a special opportunity to serve a great influx of Episcopalians. In 1942, a parish house was constructed. It was enlarged and classrooms were added in 1956. In 1957, a parochial school, long desired by Rev. Dobbins, was established. It was named McGowen-Stephens School in 1973. Rev. Dobbins retired in 1966, after 35 years of ministry to the church.

In 1966, several families from Christ Church founded St. Francis Mission in southwest Temple. A new rectory was built in 1967, replacing one purchased in 1953. In 1969 and 1970, major restoration of the church building saved it from rapid deterioration. These projects were accomplished during the rectorship of Rev. Donald C. Blavier. In 1970, Rev. Joseph DiPaola became rector, and in 1973, the church purchased the remainder of the city block on which it is located. In 1976, a historical marker and medallion were awarded to the church. At the beginning of 1985, membership in the church number 671.

Chupik Corporation

S.F. Chupik Cabinet Shop was founded in 1929 and has grown to become a major distributor and manufacturer of custom architectural millwork.

Steve F. Chupik opened the small blacksmith and cabinet shop in a metal building with a dirt floor just off East Adams Avenue in Temple. He had come to Texas in 1887 at the age of four from Ratibar, Moravia. In 1935, he sold half interest to his second oldest son, Henry Emil Chupik and the business was renamed S.F. Chupik & Son Cabinet Shop. The Chupiks purchased the Viaduct Lumber & Planing Mill in 1940, and during the war they manufactured ammunition boxes and foot lockers.

In 1946, the business was divided and expanded to include distribution with branch warehouses in Fort Worth and San Antonio. That year the name was again changed, this time to Chupik Wood Manufacturing Company, Inc. In the early 1950s, S.F. Chupik retired. In the mid-1960s, Henry's oldest son, H. Wayne Chupik joined the firm and the plant was relocated to a 10-acre site on IH-35 in 1967. By then the company had distribution centers in Houston, Temple, Lubbock, Dallas and Austin.

In the mid-1970s, Henry Emil Chupik retired, and he now serves as chairman of the board of the corporation. H. Wayne Chupik is president of Chupik Corporation, the name it has had since 1964.

City Federation Of Women's Clubs

There have been two City Federation of Women's Clubs in Temple. The first was founded on March 29, 1900, by the Self Culture Club and the Women's Literary Club. The primary goal of this organization was to secure a grant from the Carnegie Foundation to establish a public library for Temple.

Original officers were: Mrs. W.S. Banks, president; Mrs. Edward Wynne, first vice president; Mrs. J.B. Blair, second vice president; Miss Lucy MacGregor, recording secretary; Mrs. J.B. Nunneley, treasurer; Miss Jo Cater and Miss Carrie Scott, librarians; Miss Lucy MacGregor and Miss Blanche Haller, volunteer assistant librarians.

The Federation's other major project was establishment of a Women's Rest Room for rural women who came to town with their husbands. The retreat provided baby beds, couches, and other things to give the women a place to relax. It soon became known throughout the state.

After $15,000 was received from the Carnegie Foundation for the library project, the Federation was absorbed into the Carnegie Public Library Association, which had Mrs. Banks as president and Miss MacGregor as secretary.

On November 30, 1915, Mrs. C.L. Myers and Mrs. Charles S. Cox reorganized the City Federation of Women's Clubs at a meeting in the library. Organizations which sent representatives to the meeting included: Daughters of the American Revolution, Carnegie Library Association; Civic League, Delta Zeta, Domestic Science Club, Housekeepers Club, Woman's Study Club, and Woman's Suffrage Club.

One project of the group, the Everywoman's Party, lasted 46 years, from 1916–1962.

During the presidency of Mary Louise de Grummond, the idea of a club house was started. In 1946–47, a lot was purchased, and the next year, the club began construction. The keys to the club house were presented to Mrs. J.E. Johnson, club president, in the fall of 1948.

In addition to its civic endeavors which are numerous, the club has two annual projects. The Louzelle Rose Barclay Contests award prizes for accomplishments in the fields of art, literature and music. The Temple Authors' Collection is the second project. Harrisville Harrisville, an early day stage stop, was located about 10 miles south of the present site of Temple. There was a store, saloon, gin, blacksmith shop, and photographic shop there.

On February 22, 1869, James B. Nunneley was appointed postmaster for the village. Other postmasters and their appointment dates were: Charles A. Everett, July 7, 1870; George C. Harmon, October 17, 1871; Jackson B. Nunneley, May 4, 1874; J.B. Nunneley, August 10, 1881; Thomas L. Hollingsworth, August 31, 1881; and James E. Thomas, February 15, 1882. Rogers Post Office began service to the Harrisville residents on October 24, 1882.

J.B. Nunneley, Rev. William Thomas, and T.L. Hollingsworth were business partners in Harrisville. Nunneley moved to Temple when that town was started in 1881, and Hollingsworth also later located in Temple.

Howard

Howard, or Old Howard as it was sometimes known, grew up along one of the roads which connected the county seat with all the small communities. Howard was on the "Waco Village to Georgetown" road which followed the old military road from Howard via Belton and Salado.

Until 1854, only three communities in Bell County had post offices: Belton, Howard and Salado. On April 29, 1852, Moses M. Turney was appointed postmaster at Howard. Those who followed included: James A. Graves, December 9, 1852; Silas Baggett, December 18, 1855 and January 17, 1862; Robert M. Moore, March 16, 1866; Edmund G. Pendleton, February 3, 1874; Samuel J. Brown, January 24, 1876; George C. Pendleton, January 2, 1879; S.J. Brown, March 17, 1879; Daniel R. Pendleton, January 10, 1883; David R. Pendleton, February 2, 1883; James Joyce, March 27, 1886; and Thomas L. Grace, March 1, 1887. The Howard post office was discontinued in 1883 and mail was delivered by the Belton post office. In 1884, the Howard post office was re-established, but finally discontinued when the Pendletonville post office began to serve the area in 1889.

In the days of the stagecoach and cattle drives, Howard served as a stage stop and was one of the focal points where drovers collected their herds for the month-long routes to the Kansas markets.

In those days, the old Silas Baggett home stood like a sentinel atop a hill overlooking miles of prairie country. Sam Brown and Henry was one of the stores, and there was a saloon.

The cattle were corraled in the inspection pens awaiting their drives northward. Tom Elliott, who lived at Old Howard, recalled having heard of $10,000 changing hands in one day in some of the cattle deals.

There was no hotel in Howard, but the Silas Baggett home was open to travelers. George Pendleton, who became lieutenant governor of Texas, once lived in the Howard community.

Time has wiped out most of the landmarks of the community, leaving no sign of the early village on the hill.

Keys Valley

The land in this secluded valley, named for an early pioneer family, was the first to be inundated for the Stillhouse Hollow Reservoir. The early settlers in Keys Valley were: V.H. Anderson, Fred C. Brookman, William Brookman, W.H. Bruce, William Ferguson, Wesley G. Ferguson, Sam C. Hannon, Hal Keys, Thomas Jefferson McKee, W.L. Pierce, Newton M. Proctor, Sr., Gordon W. Shanklin, and Howell Tatum.

Soon after their arrival, a combination school and church house was erected where children from this valley and from the eastern part of Wilkinson Valley, just across the Lampasas River, attended the one-room school. In the summer time, church services were held under a brush arbor. After the school was consolidated with another district, the Baptists built a house of worship.

As time passed, other families increased the population of Keys Valley. They were named Baggett, Copeland, Damron, Hamilton, McCrackin, Poe, Ross, Safley and Sparks.

Four roads were built by workmen with mule teams from the county. The residents of the valley assisted by providing labor, teams, wagons, picks and shovels for the upkeep of the roads.

The Stillhouse Hollow road, cut from the east side of the hollow, was steep and narrow. It was considered the main road, and farmers going to market with wagon loads of cotton and corn had to rest their teams on the long pull.

The Keys Valley Cemetery was moved to Cedar Knob Cemetery when the government acquired the land for the reservoir.

The Keys Valley Baptist Church was also relocated to Belton.

Little Flock

[This is an excerpt from a speech written by Grace Horstman and read by Gaylon Christie at the May 1969 dedication of Little Flock's Texas Historical Marker.]

"I'm sure when James W. Moore and his wife, Mary Anne Henson Moore, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henson, sailed from England about 1840, they could not imagine how their future lives would develop. Their boat docked on the coastline of Virginia and North Carolina. After living in that area four years, they moved on south to Georgia for one year, then to Alabama for one year, and on to Batson's Prairie near Meridian, Mississippi. They lived at Batson three years. After seven weeks of travel by wagon train and crossing the Mississippi River on a ferry boat, they settled at Bastrop, Texas. During the one year of farming and ranching there, both parents of Mary Anne died and were buried there."

The Moores' next home for one year was in the Sunshine Community northeast of present Holland. This land had been vacant for the last 10 years, because of the severe Indian attacks and massacres. The Moores' last move was about 1855, to the Little Elm Creek area, known now as Little Flock.

All these moves were made by wagons with oxen, mule and horse teams. The slaves led or drove the stock behind the wagon train. One favorite slave felt honored that his duty was to lead a black jack all the trip.

"Uncle Jimmy" and "Aunt Molly," as they were fondly called, even by their grandchildren, bought 1000 acres of ranch land for 50 cents per acre. The original house was built on Elm Creek of split logs in two sections joined by a roofed hall with no doors at either end, commonly spoken of as a "dog trot." In their home there was evidence of their

The death of Dr. A.D. Woods on Janaury 26, 1901, left the Donahoe community in Bell County without a doctor. In January 1902, Dr. and Mrs. Flaniken came to Donahoe to look for a place to live. In March their home was completed and they moved from Oenaville. In later years the Flanikens moved to Rogers.

Dr. Flaniken rode a horse to visit his patients, his instruments hung on one side of the horse in a sheepskin chamois and a case of medicine hung on the other side. Many times he had to swim his horse across Donahoe Creek and Little River when they were out of their banks. He was paid with butter, corn, chickens, calves and others items.

James and Mary E. Marshall Fletcher

James Fletcher

James Fletcher, a Bell County farmer, was born in Arkansas Territory on April 2, 1822, the son of Robert and Mary Wilson Fletcher. Robert Fletcher (1774–1856) was born in Augusta or Rockbridge County, Virginia, and married Mary Polly Wilson (1795–Nov. 30, 1878) about 1810 in Kentucky.

James Fletcher was a colonist in the Republic of Texas. According to Land Certificate No. 573, County of Harrisburg, James appeared before the Board of Land Commissioners and stated he arrived in the Republic subsequent to the declaration of independence, and that he was a single man. The grant of 640 acres was to be surveyed after August 1, 1838; however, it was never completed because he returned to his father's home in Arkansas.

Fletcher returned to Texas in 1844 with members of a Marshall family. They came prospecting and during this time stayed with the John Leggett Marshall family in Fayette County. Later, they came to what is now Bell County where they were subjected to attacks from hostile Indians and had frequent encounters with Mexicans, who would steal their livestock.

After being here for about a year, the men returned to Arkansas to bring their families to Texas and they acquired more livestock, which they drove back with them. They settled in Bell County and purchased land; however, the titles proved faulty and they were forced to buy land again in a few years.

During the Civil War, Fletcher served about five months with the militia and was detailed to supply cattle to the army. After returning home, he resumed farming activities. In the early 1870s he built a store south of present-day Heidenheimer and operated it for several years. The store was located on a stagecoach stop between Dallas and Houston and was called Old Harrisville. His partner in the operation was J.B. Nunnally, who later moved to Temple when that new town was founded.

When Little River was founded, Fletcher moved there and built the first store. He operated this business until the building burned in 1884, after which he returned to his agricultural pursuits.

James Fletcher and Mary Elizabeth Marshall married on May 25, 1851, in Bell County. She was born January 22, 1825, in Illinois, the daughter of Robert Marshall (b. Dec. 3, 1775) of South Carolina. The Marshalls are buried in marked graves at Old Fort Griffin Cemetery.

James Fletcher died July 11, 1903, and his wife died June 2, 1897. Their marked graves are in Hillcrest Cemetery in Temple. They had three children:

1. Robert Pleasant (Feb. 3, 1855–July 10, 1858).
2. James Andrew
3. Mary E. (b. Mar. 16, 1860) married Eli Dougherty on December 28, 1876. She died July 9, 1911. Dougherty was born January 28, 1850 and died November 1927. He was a merchant in Temple and owned a farm. They were parents of: Mrs. E.J. Burns, J.R. Dougherty, Mrs. B.H. Williams and Mrs. J.P. McKeehan. Dr. Flanikin rode a horse to visit his patients, his instruments hung on one side of the horse in a sheepskin container and a case of medicine hung on the other side. Many times he had to swim his horse across Donahoe Creek and Little River when they were out of their banks. He was paid with bacon, corn, chickens, calves and other items.

Texas Reginald Flanikin died in 1941 and Anne Flanikin died in 1955. Their marked graves are in Val Verde Cemetery.

James and Mary E. Marshall Fletcher

James Fletcher

James Fletcher, a Bell County farmer, was born in Arkansas Territory on April 2, 1827, the son of Robert and Mary Wilson Fletcher. Robert Fletcher (1774–1835) was born in Augusta or Rockbridge County, Virginia, and married Mary Polly Wilson (1785–Nov. 26, 1873) about 1810 in Kentucky.

James Fletcher was a colonist in the Republic of Texas. According to Land Certificate No. 375, County of Harrison, James appeared before the Board of Land Commissioners and stated he arrived in the Republic subsequent to the declaration of independence, and that he was a single man. The grant of 640 acres was to be surveyed after August 1, 1838. However, it was never completed because he returned to his father's home in Arkansas.

Fletcher returned to Texas in 1844 with members of a Marshall family. They came prospecting and during this time stayed with the John Leggett Marshall family in Fayette County. Later, they came to what is now Bell County where they were subjected to attacks from hostile Indians and had frequent encounters with Mexicans, who would steal their livestock.

After being here for about a year, Fletcher returned to Arkansas to bring their families to Texas and they acquired some livestock, which they drove back with them. They settled in Bell County and purchased land. However, the titles proved faulty and they were forced to buy land again in a few years.

Much to do about Temple, Texas, and then some - - - - -

Namely:

"THE PRAIRIE QUEEN AND HER CHOO-CHOO TRAIN"

- When Temple was simple
- Old time stories that you'll never forget
- Many humorous and horseplaying incidents
- Vintage tales aged in old wine
- Sowing wild oats
- Flowers of our pioneers' olden days
- It's steeped in the glories of a new land
- Memoirs of many people
- There's much homespun, chatty talk
- Quite informative, yet, entertaining

Map of the immediate Central Texas showing Temple, Texas and most of her neighboring towns, villages and communities.

In the process of gathering and storing of hard facts in the Prairie Queen's historical granary, some discrepancies may be found. At times even members of pioneer families may differ in certain facts, certain dates, or the unraveling of some keen story. But this isn't all bad. For the main purpose of this flaring treatise is to get you and you to cipher and decipher, spell and dispel, cuss and discuss the conflicts of certain transactions as well as the wonderous achievements of our history-making colonists of yesteryears.

So as we look back to the servants of the Prairie Queen of yesteryears, yesterdays, and even today, let's "doff our hats" as we stroll down her Memory halls.

CHAPTER ONE

Whenever the Gulf, Colorado, and Santa Fe Railroad and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway crossed tracks in Temple, those steel sparks set off a magical spell of commerce and industry, plus all the trimmings that has made her the leading city of our country and the immediate Central Texas. It was the "New York" of Bell County. However, the almost combined cities of Killeen and Harker Heights may question this and rightfully so, since they are growing so rapidly, due partially to the coming of Fort Hood.

From the very beginning Old Nesters laughed about Temple looking so boyish, green, beardless and unlicked behind the ears. Why the very idea was enough to make you "slap your grandma down." So called smart railroad men . . . men of books schooled in mathematics, science, and topography attempted to layout a city on a bald prairie with no more water than a weak spring or two and a little boggy creek lined with green willows and croaking frogs.

Such tomfoolery when there was Belton some six miles west, a proven town with untold barrels of spring water that had been discovered by Philip Nolan for whom Nolan Creek was named.

Look again at the facts, the town of Belton had been proven. It had withstood the rigors of the Civil War with its buildings of lime-chinked rock and cedar-studded.

For factual claim to such remarks, consider the Texas Almanac of 1859, by Forsgard G. A. And James Burke . . . . Book-sellers and Stationers . . . . Houston, Texas. Also, Agents for I. M. Singer and Co's Celebrated Pianos, Bell County:

In 1859, 4 grist and 2 saw mills, run by horse power, corn made 30 bu. to acre, land improved 5 to 10 dollars an acre, Chinese sugar cane 150 gals. per acre.

- 3,828 horses valued at $164,006.
- 778 Negroes, $434,125.00
- Land 225,550 acres, valued at $585,268.00.
- Beef worth 2½¢ per lb.
- 1700 sheep, $3.50 per head
- Wool, 25¢ per lb.

Belton, only town in Bell County, population 300 people.

- Stone court house, 50 ft. x 60 ft., 4 rooms below and a stairway to court room.
- Oil spring in county, good for healing old sores, looks tar in appearance.
- ⅓ of county is hilly.
- Pine for buildings sold for $4.50 per 1,000's.

County Officers:

A.K. Ramsey - Chief Justice, John C. Caddel - Clerk of County Court Joe Cater - Sheriff, M.W. Dameron - Assessor and Collector, A.W

during a long rainy spell.

Later the M-K-T built a pretty white depot, baggage facilities and all. It was very modern for the time.

Somewhat later Pete Riola built a sturdy red brick grocery store across the tracks since the compress had burned. Salvaging some of the compress bricks, the store had walls 15 inches thick. Such thickness was obtained with a three bricker layer and plenty of cement plaster. The total cost of the store was $1,800. The Riola family lived in the back and ran the store in front. Today that Riola store still stands, weary but sturdy.

Mr. Pete Riola was a first cousin to Frank Floca. Frank Floca ran a grocery store on Wall Street and Avenue B.

Mr. Sam Cortese ran a grocery store between Fourteenth and Sixteenth Street on Avenue C. Mr. Cortese was the father of Mrs. Frank Floca.

The Prairie Queen had scarcely staked and erected her temporary tent alongside of Knobb creek in 1881, whence came along two ambitious and farsighted gents. Among other worthwhile things, they decided to built themselves a private bank. It was first called the Bell County Bank. However, it was better known as Downs Brothers' Bank. The two young men at the time were P.L. (Pink) Downs and F.F. (Fort) Downs. They were fine-hewed, men of a rare sort, quite conspicuous as they dealt in various town enterprises. Too, they were "some dressers", always spick and span, neat -- neat as a new boot. Later on they buggyed about town wearing white shirts with E and W collars and cuffs, flowing ties and all of this was covered over with all wook serge suits.

But in the beginning of their first town venture, some of this had not come along -- for in 1882, they were two romping young men, no doubt in blue denim shirts, duck pants and tight galluses which was footed by cowhide boots or brogans. Having built their stout, clap-boarded bank, which nowadays is called a shack, but in 1882 the structure was counted quite classic. With everything in order, they left their 20 ft. by 30 ft. structure and headed for Waco village in a wagon to fetch in a load of cold cash. On the way back, their wagon bogged in the muddy trail of a road between Eddy and Troy. Having a few quilts along and several messes of tack they spent the night in the wagon for they dared not to leave the money. The next morning they hired a boost-team from a prairie farmer. Having reached higher ground, they rolled into Temple and placed the money in their bank, which is now two doors north of the present First National Bank. In fact, it is now (1975) the J.C. Penny Co.

So Temple's first bank was in being and ready for business. The bank had a cash capital of $10,000. This same year, 1882, Temple had a big barbecue to celebrate its birthday. On this day there were $100,000 worth of town lots sold. The average price was $50. In 1884, this Bell County bank was nationalized with a capital stock of $50,000. And for this early day in time, of 1884, this was indeed a heaping pile of money. Some of the most powerful welding men in the Prairie Queen's township became associated with it. Besides F.F. Downs as president (he was the eldest brother) P.L. Downs served as cashier and later as vice-president and still later he was on the board of directors. However, under the original set-up, George Wilcox was vice-president and having F.E. Sanford cashier. Other directors were J.B. Nunnelley, Otto K. Burwitz and E.B. Baggett.

The Downs brothers were talented hands in making Temple a powerhouse even from a mud hole setting to a growing city. Elsewhere has been given about some of their business affairs, their social life and their loyalty to their lodges. F.F. Downs home at 212 North 9th Street was one of Temple's earliest fine homes. Material, the finest, came by wagon train from Galveston. His residence at one time was also 14 South 6th Street. P.L. Downs, Sr.'s residence was 600 North 1st Street. P.L. Downs, Jr. lived on South 43rd Street.

From such an humble, yet positive beginnings, the Downs Brothers' Bank became the First National.

And now a few more accountings of the fine family of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Floca. That's right. Their grocery store was at 2nd Street and Wall Street (Avenue B). They were good business people, quite thrifty, too. Mr. Floca, coming to Temple when the Prairie Queen had hardly seated herself, knew that she was bound to launch out, going from gingham and calico to satin and silk. And Mr. Floca always kept a lookout eye for worthy undertakings. So one day he upheaped and bought the downtown Bell Theater building at about 16 South Main Street. Several enterprises romped at this location at different times. On one side of it was a barber shop and on the other was the popular Wildcat Newstand at one time.

In the meantime, or more likely before this deal, Mr. Floca took on the whole brick building along Avenue B from the alley to 2nd Street. Some of them were two story buildings. Those buildings served well various business concerns such as drugstores, dental offices, Berry's Feed Store, Hawkin's Grocery and so forth.

The Floca boys had a great teacher in their daddy. However, he continued to buy real estate. He bought the vacant lot in front of his business houses on the corner of Avenue B and 2nd Street. Here was built the big Western State Wholesale house. Later it was torn down and still later on came the Temple National Bank's drive-in banking facilities, the first one in town.

The sidewalks alongside the Floca buildings were laid in 1907 and '08 by E. Blankstein. The building on the corner at 201 South Main Street was probably not owned by Mr. Floca. Mr. J.N.Jepson built this strong brick house. His name is embedded in the iron mat at the entrance. The sidewalks here also were built in 1907. On this corner, there used to be plenty of iron rings to tie horses. In 1910, the sidewalks were extended 4 and 5 feet into the streets thereby making wide pedestrian walkways and narrow streets.

But ah me! Let us continue with the Floca family now running into the

CHAPTER 11

In the early going of the Prairie Queen, no fine home was complete unless it was surrounded by a white picket fence. Others had netted wire and iron barriers. Here are some of those beautiful homes and a descriptive word or two will be given, not only about the dwelling but also their owners. These residential homes were built from 1890 to about 1920. After 1920 beautiful brick homes began to appear.

The following homes were built from 1890 to 1910. Many of them were two story, having 16 and 18 feet ceilings. Some of these homes have been mentioned before. They are mentioned again as a sequence and also for emphasis.

A.C. Buchanan in 1895 lived in a spacious two story house. It was a pretty thing with a graduating ledged roof. Mr. Buchanan wore a mustache; his hair was thinning; he always looked fit; and he was so active in the early years of Temple.

Dr. E.T. Walker lived in a big two story home. In his residence was the beginning of King's Daughters Hospital. Dr. Walker was fairly tall, quite slender, and wore a big mustache.

City Marshall, Wm. Taylor, was a husky man. He resided at 21 South 4th Street, now the Campbell Bruce Lumber Company.

The Kyle Boarding House, 10th and Avenue A. was a fancy place. George Kyle was dapper-looking, so youngish and active. Remember this was in 1895.

W.H. Crane's home was an eye-catcher, a well-built place, having a tall steeple adorning it. Mr. Crane had property on Main and 2nd Street. He was a Santa Fe engineer, later he was in the insurance and real estate business. He was tall, strong and wore a mustache. He was Temple's second mayor.

W.B. Farmer was a nice looking gentlemen, with short cut hair and mustache. He was active about town, having banking interests as well as other holdings. Mrs. Farmer was the former Lillie Keller.

Along and about 1893, W.A. Wilkerson built a powerful three story building at 14th Street and Avenue D. It was located across the street in front of Cheeves Brothers. It's now the eastside parking lot for the present Temple National Bank. For some time it was used as a United States Post Office. About middle ways of the long structure was a stairway to the second and third floor. Many different business concerns put up here, such as: Frank Hieronymus Printing Co., Shaffer Men's Store, a wholesale grocery company, newsstand, and, from time to time, other business enterprises. While upstairs were offices for real estate, Justice of Peace, Dr. J.B. Talley and et cetera. On the second floor, in the Justice of Peace Office, was the climax of a Temple lynching in 1915.

O.W. Hasche was a partner in the Hasche & Whitefield Pens and Slaughter House. They kept the town well-supplied in fresh and dried beef. Most of their beeves were grass-fatened from surrounding prairie-rolling pastures. They prospered and had nice dwellings.

Dr. R.W. Barton's home was two story, well-made and it also had a white picket fence. It was on 12th Street.

J.B. Nunnelley was known for his white-headed mop of hair. He was one of Temple's first business men and most successful.

W.S. Banks, the former Belton lawyer, was always clean-shaven, tall man. His thick black hair fully covered his scalp. He and Mrs. Banks kept a pretty home.

Other popular men about town were Harry Pye, N.H. Smith and John A. Cole. John Cole was in the insurance and real estate business. He had a brother Will Cole. John's residence was 12th Street and Avenue A.

George H. Gresham, "Big George", lived at 1606 West Avenue H. He had a nursery and was occupied with honey bees. He was one of Temple's first volunteer firemen.

Dr. C.T. Simpson was a stout, bald-headed man and wore a long, white bigote.

The Southland Oil Mill began long ago on the MK&T tracks. It was first known as the Empire Oil Mill. This was in 1886. They boasted about processing 125 tons of seed cotton a day. This was some feat, so early. This plant has continued lo these many years without interruption as Temple's oldest manufacturing plant.

J.J. Booker, proprietor of the Booker Drug Store, lived in a nice dwelling at 904 South First Street. It's now the Leamon Wall Realtors. As a young man, he was a will-o'-the-wisp, and very thin. However, he was attractive with a full head of hair and neat mustache.

C.U. Yancey, Forrest B. Smith and L.C. Martin were two more nice-looking gents that were well-known men about town.

The residence of Dr. W.L. Rogers, 14th Street and Avenue A, was another big two story set up, also having a pretty white picket fence.

The dwelling of L.L. Fisher was one story and pretty as a picture. It had an iron fence around it. He was an alderman.

A.F. Bentley was tall, slender, well-kenned and well-groomed. He was particular about his mustache; he loved bow ties; and he was just as smart as he looked.

Rev. W.R. Maxwell was stout and strong. He had heavy hair and a thick beard.

On second street was the three story, gracious home of J.T. Smither. The J.T. Smither Compress & Co. was located at the cross tracks of the MK&T and the Santa Fe. It burned. Then it was built again some two blocks north of the crosstracks on 14th Street, alongside the MK&T.

Second Street and Moore Avenue was the dwelling of Huling P. Robertson.

Capt. George E. Wilcox Sr's. three story near mansion stood prominent at 212 North 9th Street. Mr. Wilcox was a big powerful man. His black bow tie was always eminent being domed over by his striking bald head. He was one of the most progressive citizens to help spread the

However, some girls bought goods from the peddler or town stores. Each girl tried to be original in her design. Each exercised maticulous craftsmanship with her busy fingers as she completed the finished garment.

Oftentimes, in coolish weather, she wore lace mittens on her hands, a long scarf over her shoulders, gold earrings and a gold brooch. Some women like to part their hair in the center and pull it back over their ears in a coiffure. Many, also, wore a flower or ornament in their hair.

In order to see the best dressed women you had to attend the opera, a big camp meeting or go out to a square dance.

Many times parents would story to their girls about their ages. It was a common belief that if a girl wasn't married by the time she was sixteen, that she wasn't anything except a hard, toe-nailed, old maid. Still they believed a gal had some chance until she was nineteen. Of course, there were exceptions.

Some girls were proned to marry so soon, oftentimes the parents would purposely set back some two or three years their daughter's age. At times, the parents, having storied about the girl's age, later to die and the girl would go through life in extreme doubt about her exact age.

And young men, approaching sparking age, took great delight in their moustaches, keeping them well-larded and trained. They'd dress up in a $6 suit, $1.25 pair of brogans, 75¢ shirt with E&W collar and cuff, 15¢ necktie, 10¢ pair of sleeve holders, 15¢ pair of galluses and top it off with a $2.00 homburg or Kentucky derby, or 35¢ panama.

And, if he didn't have his own rig, he'd go to the livery stable and hire a $75 Banner buggy, pulled by a slick-haired horse that was worth at least $200 and some much more.

Then he'd call on his sweetheart while she waited in the parlor of her home. Oftentimes he'd take her a mess of flowers, bottle of cologne, box of sweet smelling face powder and sometimes even a music box.

Now and then a few women, those that were on the skinny side, having a bean pole figure padded themselves with cotton to look plump and breasty. Those were scattered townswomen's practices. In contrast the old country gals were most often well-stacked. And in some cases the country girls would specify to their fathers to use high sideboards on the wagons whenever they visited Temple. Thereby a high sideboard wagon could be used for their personal comforts. But most often those wagons weren't too private since they leaked something awfully.

In and around the year of 1887 a newcomer could learn a lot by listening to people talk. One elderly gentleman was talking about the opening of a toll bridge that crossed the Leon River between Belton and Temple. Since it was a stag session between whittlers and spitters he commented:

"People for miles around came over to cross on the new toll bridge. We had fiddling and dancing and dinner on the ground. It was a magnificent structure. Since it was on the San Antonio-Little Rock Stage many dignitaries were on hand. At this very time it was one of the finest rock and timber hook-ups that ever topped a stream borrow none. Towering steel poles held enormous northern made cables. Rock pillars on both sides of the embankment supported the oak runners."

"This bridge my friends," continued the Old Timer, was one of the greatest bridges then known to Texas."

In another small group of men, the newcomer overheard the merits and demerits of cottonseed. One farmer opinioned:

"Well, sir, I'll tell you right now. With these gins in full blast there's a bunch of old stray cows around there eating cottonseed. They ain't got no brand."

About that moment a farmer from Cockle Burr Flat exclaimed: "Well, a cow that eats cottonseed, her milk ain't any good, cause them seed makes her milk greasy!"

Then another old man from Reeds Lake near Little River acted like he wanted to talk. He had been a good listener. He was gumming Brown Mule tobacco.

Finally he just cut in:

You know what fellas? Last night me and Sadie got scired to death. Two men rode up into the yard. My dogs shore did bark. I went out pretty quick to see what wus up. You know I sleep with my clothes on. I left my rifle behind the front door.

Wus they two thieves Seth?

"I didn't know what they wus. But they just spoke up and said they wanted to stay all night."

"Well, the night looked so stormy I jist told 'em to pen their horses in the corral and come on in. Soon they came in. They turned down supper. Said Little River was busting out with wild game. I couldn't get a good look at 'em. I didn't have any coal oil fur the lamps."

"Did they act mean, cuss and sich?" asked one in the party.

"No, but they wus rough talking. And then I told 'em to go to the shed room where they'd find feather beds. When they went fur the shed room the moon peeped out from a cloud and I noticed that each one had on a big pistol."

"What you think then?" asked another friend.

"Well, I began to think about Jessie James, Bill Longely and such."

"What happened then?" questioned some fellow.

"Then I just went on to bed. But I was wondering. About that moment one of them lit a pine torch. And the other one began to read Jesus' Sermon on the Mount. He read about 15 verses. Then the other one offered a short prayer.

"And then . . . . what happened?"

"And then me and Sadie turned over and went to sleep."

Before the arrival of the Steven building and later being occupied by Sears & Roebuck, 102 East Central, Mr. Thomas Louis Hollingsworth opened up a farm implement business in a big, long sheet iron building.

However, before this he opened up a hardware store and a machine shop at 107 South Main Street, a few doors south of where the Temple National Bank is now.

Mr. Hollingsworth lived in a tiny village called Harrisville, a few miles below Heidenheimer. The village was located on the edge of the Harris farm. Mr. T.L. Hollingsworth's son, Joe Hollingsworth, was born in the village in 1881.

Mr. Hollingsworth realized Temple's potentials quite early so he moved into town to cast his lot with the Prairie Queen in 1882.

And once that long sheet iron building was completed he began to sell wagons. Such wagons as: Peter Schuttle, Studebaker, Mitchell and Doering binders as well as John Deere implements. He did a thriving business.

It might be well to treat two prominent men in this spell of time. They were J.B. Nunnalle and L.M. Chattin. Both men were soon to become very active in Temple's business affairs as well as son Joe Hollingsworth.

At Harrisville, Nunnallee became a partner with Hollingsworth in their general store.

L.M. Chattin was quite active since he carried mail by horseback and back from Belton to Calvert.

Whenever Hollingsworth came to Temple, Nunnallee and Chattin came about the same time. At Avenue B and 12th Street (Main) Nunnalle & Chattin opened a general merchandise store. They did a wonderful business. They are catalogued among Temple's first merchants and men about town.

They both built fine homes and became rich. Cahpman was a large man. He married a Rountree girl and moved to Florida.

At the corner of 17 and North 2nd Street was the home of the Roupe family. At the present this is the new business firm of Western Auto Associate store.

Between the Roupe dwelling and Hollingsworth's sheet iron implement building (102 East Central Avenue) was the home of Dr. Knight. The aforementioned high wheel Holster car with the stick guide that dashed over town at 10 and 15 miles per hour scaring the wits out of men and beasts was owned by Dr. Knight. This was in 1904.

The National Laundry was first located at 103 South 1st Street, before they moved to 102 South 5th Street, after the big opera house was removed.

Away yonder before the Veteran's Cafe came to being at 108 South First was the site of the Prairie Queen Laundry. After the Prairie Queen Laundry discontinued Bill Holden ran a restaurant and bar.

Bill Holden was pretty popular, a man about town. He was a railroad man, then came his duty with the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Hose Company No. 110 in 1890. This company consisted of some 21 men. Bill always claimed that, "me and the boys were mean to fires."

Bill Holden's Restaurant and Saloon

Bill Holden was a brother to the well-known Miss Kitty Holden of 502 South 1st Street. She was a piano teacher for many years. There isn't any way of knowing how many students she taught. When she was in her deep eighties, this writer used to visit with her. And she'd always go in and play a number or two as a token of friendship. She'd also show old photographs and talked about old time things. And those old time things were actually old Temple history. She and Bill help make it.

A town "kid" that was "raised" on the streets of Temple was Grady Jenkins. He received a small inheritance but like other Temple lads he got out and worked.

His Uncle, John L. Jenkins, bought two more lots at 115th and 117th North 5th Street. He also owned the two story building at 219 West Central Avenue, and the building at 12 South 1st Street, now Stephen's Optometrist.

Grady Jenkins being the nephew of John Jenkins inherited those three parcels of land. This gave Grady a little nestegg.

Somewhat past the town's takeoff the Salvation Army came in. Of course it was (is) a worthy outfit. This religious body bought out John Jenkin's two story building at 219 East Central Avenue.

They didn't pay very much down. A note was drawn. Some worthy Temple men went on the note, such as: Will Brown, Louis Bryant, A.A. Stavinoha and one or two more. When the note came due there wasn't

We had some brief contact concerning the two Samuel Nunneleys. They are quite a mystery. Samuel (1842-1872) is supposed to have married Rachel Elizabeth Bowman, and, I doubt that there was a marriage. Samuel and Rachel had a child, Samuel Nunneley (1870-1924) who married Mamie Dorcus Lowry. Before Sam and Mamie married, it appears that Sam (1870-1924) had a son with Martha Jane "Mattie" Fanning. This child, Chester Arthur Nunneley was born 9 Mar 1897 and died in Caney, Montgomery Co. KS in 1956. The family of Chester have always known that Samuel and Martha were the parents and probably did not marry.

Rachel Elizabeth Bowman is also, quite a mystery. She, apparently had two sons....James Auslam and Samuel Nunneley. On the 1870 Census of Madison Co. AR, she is listed as Rachel Taylor (living next door to James E. and Matilda Bowman, her parents. Rachel has two sons in the household, James Taylor (4) and Samuel Taylor (8/12). When Samuel died in 1924, his obit lists a half-brother, James Auslam and an aged mother, Elizabeth Graham.

I have several obits, census records, etc., for the family of Samuel Nunneley (1870-1924). The big search is for the burial of Samuel (1842-1872) and his exact death date. It seems no one really knows what happened to Sam Houston Nunneley, only that he died in 1872. His death date was taken from the list of births and deaths of the children of Joseph Alexander Nunneley, prepared by a grandson of old Joseph (I have a copy).

VANDERLIP HINTS INVESTIGATION INTO MARION NEWSPAPER MIGHT BE OF INTEREST; DIGS PROBERS

By United Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 13—Frank A. Vanderlip indirectly suggested here today that an inquiry be made into the conditions of sale of "a certain Marion newspaper" which was sold for $550,000 "when it was well known that it as not worth half that sum."

The suggestion was made in an address delivered before the weekly meeting of the New York Rotary Club. Vanderlip asserted that two young men with little financial standing purchased the publication.

Scores McAdoo, Committee

The financier declared that the last administration stands challenged. Striking at William G. McAdoo, he said that the former secretary was "like a small boy with stolen jam, dropping the client after the client had testified before the investigating committee."

Scoring the committee, Vanderlip declared that the associates of Senator Walsh were "very improper investivators of any moral question.

VICTORY THEATRE VISITED BY BOLD THIEF; $80 TAKEN

Entering the vestibule of the Victory theater between the time when the show is closed for the evening and before it is opened at night unknown thieves yesterday forced the door of the box office, cut away part of the cash drawer, forced the lock with a screw driver and made away with approximately $80 in cash.

The robbery was one of the most daring of the present crime wave. The robbers were working at all times within 15 feet of where people are passing on the square, and yet went undetected. Apparently in forcing the cash drawer the robbers worked on their knees or sitting down, to keep their heads below the glass front of the box office.

The show is closed at 5:30 in the afternoon with the termination of the afternoon picture run but the operators, preparing for the night run, do not leave the building until 6 o'clock. Sometime between this time and when the theater was reopened at 7, the rifling took place.

E. C. Robertson, manager of the theater was not in Fayetteville at the time of the robbery, being away on business in the southern part of the state. The theater was in charge of assistants.

Upon the discovery of the robbery last night officers were immediately notified but no clues were discovered. It is believed that the robbery was done by members of the same gangs that have been holding other crime sessions here.

MR. NUNNELEY LAID TO REST AT HUNTSVILLE

Funeral services for Sam Nunneley were held at ten o'clock this morning from Central Presbyterian Church, conducted by Rev. M. L. Gillespie. Immediately following, the body accompanied by bereaved relatives and friends, was taken to Huntsville for burial. A brief ceremony was said at the grave.

The church here was filled with mourning friends, and flowers were banked in a solid mass upon and around the altar.

"The Death of Ase," funeral dirge, played by Miss Mildred Gillespie, sounded solemnly as the body was brought into the church where Mr. Nunneley had worshipped for more than seven years, and at this moment, few friends could restrain their tears. Funeral hymns sung were those best loved by the deceased: "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," and "Lead Kindly Light." They were rendered by a choir of twenty who for several years have been directed by Mr. Nunneley's sitser-in-law, Mrs. Virginia Lowery Coffman, and who have on many occasions been guests in the Nunneley home.

The funeral sermon by Dr. Gillespie was a touching one and the pastor and friend, during the service paid tribute to the deceased, as follows:

"Samuel, son of Samuel Huston and Elizabeth Nunneley, was born near Huntsville, Madison County, Arkansas, February 7, 1870; died in his home in Fayetteville, Arkansas, February 11, 1924; aged 54 years and 4 days.

"He grew to manhood in the community where he was born, and after receiving such education as his opportunities afforded, he engaged in teaching school, serving as instructor in the high school at Eureka Springs and other places. As he looked back on those years in after life he said that if he had his life to live over again he would try to make a great teacher, for he found more satisfaction in the fruit of those years and the influence he was enabled to exert on youthful minds and character than any other success that had come to him.

"After his teaching experience, he embarked in the mercantile business in which he was eminently successful for a number of years. In 1896, he was elected circuit clerk and recorder of Madison County, in which capacity he faithfully and efficiently served the people of his county for four years. He then entered the banking business and was elected cashier of the Madison County Bank, which later became the First National Bank of Huntsville. After a number of years with that bank he retired from its service and later organized the Farmers' and Merchants Bank of Huntsville, of which he became president, in which capacity he served for some years, and in which he was a stock holder at the time of his death. During all his business life he dealt extensively in real estate and other business investments, in which he was uniformly successful. He was a man of fine judgment and always trusted to the fullest his business associates. He was a man of fine poise, splendid energy and unimpeachable integrity. His word of honor was trusted implicity by all who knew him and never violated. His motto in all of the activities of his life might well have been, 'study to be quiet and to do your own business and to work with your hands.'

"Mr. Nunneley was married to Miss Lowery, daughter of W. S. and Mrs. Ophelia Jane Polk Lowery. To this union were born three children:

WALTER MILLS GIVES PLEASURABLE CONCERT

Walter Mills, New York baritone, delighted a large audience yesterday at University auditorium, singing with ease and expression. His songs were enhanced by accompaniments played by H. D. Tovey. His voice [illegible] and he is especially fine in decrescendo, and and those tones which must be sung piano assai, as the composers say.

Opening with a group from Handel, Secchi, Bononcini, and closing with Gretchaninoff's "Over the Steppe," his program was one giving pleasure from start to finish. His "Ich Liebe Dich" (Grieg) and Il Lacerato Spirito (Verdi) seemed especially to please. Many of the audience preferred most of all—possibly because it had not before been sung here—Imayo, a Buddhist chant, by Yamada, the Japanese, a song said to have been handed down from three or four thousand years, at the time Buddha held sway. Written in a scale consisting of five notes without semitones, the appeal of the chant was irresistible.

With a fine physique and a strong, erect, masculine carriage, Mr. Mills wins the audience before he has even moved his lips. And when he does sing, his tones are clear and pure; soft and deep at times, and they have an undoubted appealing quality.

The success of any singer's concerts is due, in a large measure to his accompanists. In Mr. Tovey's playing, his touch, his expression—everything was a flawless echo of the singer's voice.

Mr. Mills sung Monday evening in private concert at the home of Dr. H. D. Wood, whose son he knows in New York. He also sang before high school students, and the Chamber of Commerce last evening. He goes from Fayetteville to Dallas, Texas.

ALL MUST WORK TO SOLVE FARM PROBLEM—GRAY

Educational institutions, farmers and business men must unite and work together to solve the great agricultural problems of the state and nation, Dean Dan T Gray told the Chamber of Commerce at the meeting held in his honor at Wesley Hall last evening.

"Farming is on the same basis as business and the wealth producing capacity of the Arkansas farmer, especially the cotton grower, is low because the grower does not invest enough in his business."

Dean Gray gave figures to show the low wealth producing capacity of the Arkansas cotton grower, stating that last year the cotton growers of the state averaged only $1200 wealth for the year. He compared the value of the farms and the amount invested in Arkansas with that of other states.

"The average of an Arkansas farm is slightly over 36 acres," Dean Gray said. "Unless this acreage is increased, we cannot hope for better agricultural conditions. We must endeavor to make toward larger farms.

"Two things must be done by the farmers: They must put more into their business and they must learn to use horse power and machinery," the Dean said.

He cited figures showing the amount invested by Iowa farmers and the amount of machinery and horse power used by these farmers in comparison with that used by these farmers in comparison with that used by Arkansas farmers.

"I will always be willing and anxious to help develop agriculture and manufacturing in Arkansas," Dean Gray said in closing his talk to the Chamber.

An ovation was given the dean as he was introduced by H. E. Dvoracheck, acting chairman in the absence of J. F. Moore, president. The entire membership of the organization rose to its feet, applauding for several minutes after the new dean of the College of Agriculture was presented.

Robert E. Waite, secretary of the Arkansas Bankers' Association, gave a short talk on agriculture of the state, pledging support to Dean Gray and outlining the ways in which the business men of the state might make Arkansas the "Wonder State" of the union.

A short talk was made by Colvin Brown of the United States Chamber of Commerce, who has been conducting the short course for the secretaries, at the University. Mr. Brown told of his impression of the state, gleaned from this, his first visit.

Ray Gill of Fort Smith, president of the State Secretaries Association and secretary of the Fort Smith Chamber of Commerce, welcomed Dean Gray and pledged support to the work of the College. He told briefly of the secretaries course at the University. The work to aid the condition of the farmers of the state was endorsed and support was pledged by Mr. Gill. The Fayetteville secretary read a telegram of greeting from E. J. Bodman.

Two selections, "Little Mother of Mine," and as an encore, "On the Road to Mandalay," were rendered by Walter Mills, New York baritone, who sang at the University yesterday afternoon. William Paisley accompanied Mr. Mills last evening.

Music was furnished throughout the evening by Owen Mitchell's orchestra. The hall was decorated in pink and white streamers and with small hearts. The valentine decorations were carried out in the three course dinner served by the Methodist ladies.

Guests included all visiting secretaries, bankers and business men spending the day here. The Frisco train was held 35 minutes to permit the visitors to leave for their home. The program was in charge of Mr. Batjer.

Lions Hear Pleas For Library; To Give Assistance

An appeal to the Lions Club for help toward the support of the library was made at the noon day session of that group at Wesley Hall today by Bruce Holcomb. The club gave the cause consideration and turned over to the finance committee the job of shaping up the work to be done by the club.

It contained the idea of cash prizes to be offered the press of the state for the best reports of the State Press Association convention here June 19, 20, and 21. A cooperation of the University, the Assembly and the civic bodies, could mean substantial prizes and a statewide interest in Fayetteville and its institutions, it was pointed out.

PLAYS SATURDAY NIGHT FOR BENEFIT ALUMNI STUDENT FUND CAUSE

BODMAN WIRES WHOLE-HEARTED SUPPORT TO U-A

E. J. Bodman of Little Rock, unable to be present last evening at the Chamber of Commerce banquet held in honor of Dean Dan T. Gray, visiting secretaries, bankers and business men, wired the following greeting, which was read before the Chamber:

"I am sorry I am prevented from being with you tonight. I would like to join in person with the citizens of Fayetteville in the welcome you are to extend Dean Gray. Please express to him my good wishes and assurance of full cooperation in the work that is before him.

"I hope the Chamber of Commerce will recognize the importance of the agricultural college to the state and lead in the movement to make of it the big brother of the farmer. Dean Gray enjoys the reputation of surrounding himself with strong men and giving a business administration. He is deserving of wholehearted support in a policy of this kind. Appropriations and equipment will follow. Give the farmer real service and the more than seventy percent of our population will see that the college will receive support.

"Better farming methods mean greater taxable wealth and likewise increased revenue. The Chamber of Commerce can be an important factor in making Dean Gray's administration successful. I tender wholehearted support."

Mabel Chapman Ryan in Concert

The following clipping from the Queens' Borough, New York, Daily Star, concerning a concert by Patricia Ryan (Mabel Chapman, formerly of Fayetteville) will probably be of interest to Mrs. Ryan's many local friends. Mrs. Ryan has appeared in solo recital here several times when her singing charmed large audiences. Her recent debut in New York City brought her much favorable comment from the writers of musical criticism. This little article is from Jackson Heights, her "home town:"

"Those who attended the Musical Assembly in the Jackson Heights Community Club last night, found much to praise in the program offered by Mrs. Patricia Ryan, the dramatic soprano, and Marion Cassell, the pianist.

"Mrs. Ryan is one of several singers of fame who make Jackson Heights their home, and her rare appearance before a Jackson Heights audience is in itself sufficient to insure a full house. Mrs. Ryan possesses a dramatic soprano of rare quality.

"Her program was divided in three groups, each giving full range to her powers. The first consisted of Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Music;" Schubert's "Die Forelle," Lalo's "L'Esclave" and Fourdrian's "Le Papillon."

"The second group was by American composers, embracing "Wings of Night," Watts; "The Mother Heart," Kaines; "A Little Coon's Prayer," Barbara Hope, and "June" by Lulu Jones Dowling.

"The closing group was in costume, giving the arias "Habanera," "La Scene des Cartes" and "Gypsy Song" from the first, second and third acts of Carmen.

"In her presentation of these numbers, she rose to the heights of the grand opera stage, and her audience gave her the applause due to a prima donna. Every number she offered was encored. Her accompanist was Miss Olive Robinson.

"The piano numbers of Miss Cassell exhibited a wide range. She was her best in her second group, the "Etude in F Minor," Liszt; "Chant Polonaise No. 5," Chopin-Liszt, and "La Campanella," Paganini-Liszt. Her technique in this last number was superb, and she imparted to its rendition a warmth seldom heard.

"Her other numbers included two Scarlotti, a Debussy and a Chabrier composition.

"This series of recitals is being given under the auspices of the Jackson Heights Women's Club to raise funds to pay for a steinway concert grand, which it recently purchased to provide an instrument that would meet the requirements of the ex-artist. It has proved so popular that a second series is being arranged."

a daughter, Dorothy Baldwin, who died in infancy, and two sons, Samuel Lowery and Lorin Polk, who with their mother survive him. Of his immediate family, he leaves his aged mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Graham, and a half-brother, Mr. James Auslam, of Huntsville.

"After his retirement from the banking business, Mr. Nunneley spent some two years traveling for his own health and that of his little son, and in 1916 he moved with his family to Fayetteville and has made his home here since. He served with great credit to himself as Deputy Revenue Collector under the late Jack Walker who had been a life long friend.

"Mr. Nunneley gave his heart and life to Jesus Christ in his young manhood and united with the Presbyterian Church at Huntsville. For many years he served as a ruling elder in that congregation, moving his membership to Central Presbyterian Church when moving to this city, and by his devotion to his church and his consistent Christian life, made for himself a large place in the hearts and affections of the people. He was always a Christian gentleman, always deeply interested in the work of his church, and his quiet life was a life of most beautiful ministry. He was a man of prayer and deep spirituality and walked in loving fellowship with his Lord.

"Like all true men, he was at his best in the circle of his happy little family. Such a husband and father! He was gentle, thoughtful, affectionate, kind. His chief joy was found in making those whom he loved happy. Even through the months of his fatal illness and awful suffering, his thoughts were all for them and never for himself. I have never known greater fortitude in suffering, or a more calm, confident waiting for the end. His going out was triumphant. To him, the great, eternal verities of his religion were always real. He said, "I have no fears about going. I only shrink from suffering, but I am willing to bear even that.' His Lord was always present with him, and the presence of his departed loved ones filled his death chamber. He said near the last, "I have not missed the great thing of life for which I have tried to live.' His life was a benediction and his departure a coronation. What a legacy he leaves behind for his loved ones! A telegram from a nephew who is a student in Princeton University says, 'His noble Christian character will always guide me, and his beautiful life of distinguished service will ever be worthy of emulation.'

"One of his loved ones gave the writer this little verse which is applicable to him and his going:

"What is this mystery that men call death?
My friend before me lies; in all save breath.
He seems the same as yesterday. His face
So like to life, so calm, bears not a trace
Of that great change which all of us so dread.
I gaze upon him and say; he is not dead,
But sleeps; and soon he will arise and take Me by the hand. I know he will awake
And smile on me as he did yesterday.
And he will have some gentle word to say,
Some kindly deed to do; for loving thought
Was warp and woof of which his life was wrought.
He is not dead. Such souls forever live
In boundless measures of the love they give."

The HOME GARDEN
What is Home without a Garden?

Garden Tool Gossip

The hoe is the traditional home garden tool but the rake with cultivator teeth has become a close second, if not even a more useful tool under modern methods of keeping the soil constantly stirred. Use the hoe to cut off weeds at the start and then keep the soil stirred with a rake so they can't get a fresh start.

Now is an excellent time to take stock of the garden tools and to see that there is a supply ready to hand as soon as garden work can start. They will be ready to use when needed, which very often they are not. Hoes come in all manner of styles nowadays suited to various gardening operation: from hoes armed with cultivator teeth to the handiest of all garden tools, the double-bladed hoe, a blade on one edge and rake on the other, which being narrower than the standard garden rake, offers the most convenient tool to keeping the soil stirred between rows which are narrower than the rake.

In addition to the hoe and rake, trowels and hand cultivators and weeders are necessary. A broad-bladed trowel for handling the heavier and larger-rooted plants is needed and a smaller, angular-bladed trowel is a very useful tool for transplanting smaller plants. The asparagus cutter, a long narrow blade with a notched end, is more useful during the season to remove dandelions and other tap-rooted pests by cutting the tap root under the surface even than it is for harvesting asparagus.

Various claw-shaped cultivators are essential for small plots, one of the best of these being a three-tined bent toothed cultivator for stirring the soil in small areas.

For gardens of any considerable extent a wheel hoe with the various attachments is a necessity to save time and backache.

CLAIM MILLION DOLLAR 'SLUSH' GAVE OIL INTERESTS A CHANCE TO SECURE GOVERNMENT RIGHTS

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—Reports of a $1,000,000 "slush fund" raised by the oil interests gave the Senate oil lease investigators a new lead today.

The fund, according to reports, was provided by oil men interested in the oil leases for the use of government officials, one a man close to the Harding administration but not connected with it having drawn more than $200,000 at one time, according to reports.

Former Secretary Fall knew that the proposed payments in naval oil in return for the storage tank construction, had been held illegal when he made arrangements with Ed Doheny, Oscar Sutro, attorney for the Standard Oil interests, told the committee today.

Fall disregarded Sutro's opinion, a copy of which is in the files of the Interior department, it was stated. Attorney-General Daugherty gave "an informal verbal opinion" that the contract for exchange was legal, it is alleged.

of the Bureau of Mines to Fall suggested that Fall [illegible] to put the opinion [illegible] the protests of [illegible] en the committee [illegible]

John C. Shaffer, publisher of a string of newspapers, told the committee that he had received $92,000 "for services" in connection with Sinclair's payment to the Pioneer Oil Company of $1,000,000 for the Pioneer Company's claims in the Teapot Dome reserve. Shaffer said that he had one-eighth interest in the Pioneer Company.

In his examination today, Shaffer declared that he gave up nothing for his interest in the Pioneer Company, which was given to him. He said that Fall had arranged with Sinclair for some acreage in the Dome, and said that he had a claim because he had spent over $100,000 developing the land of an adjacent reserve.

Assistant Secretary of the Interior Finey, whom Fall dismissed before the opening of government proceedings on the title relating to the rich naval sections, is the one permitting the Standard Oil Co. to retain its section, it was brought out at the close of the arguments of Sutro.

He said that he disagrees now with the ruling of Fall, but that he put forward no protest when Fall's decision was made.

The present course has brought here grand opera singers, and will bring such noted numbers as Therlew Lieurance, composer of Indian music, and the Russian Cathedral Quartette, said by many to be the most noted group of Russian musicians in the country.

The Russian Singers will be here February 22nd, and Lieurance and Company, April 22nd. The success of the present course has encouraged the committee to sign up for next season. A special price to all courses is made to University students. Unless patrons prefer some other system to reservation of seats this year's plan will continue.

Social at Methodist Church Great Success

Between 75 and 100 attended the social held last night at Wesley Hall, following mid-week prayer services at Central Methodist Church. J. L. Bond, instructor of the men's class, and Miss Lila Rollston, instructor of the women's class, Dr. C. G. Melton, chairman of the men's program, and Mrs. Alcuin Eason, chairman of the women's program, were official hosts and hostesses and gave to all a cordial welcome.

Valentine decorations, left up from a previous entertainment remained to give the holiday air. Brick ice cream and cake, coffee and cocoa were served as refreshments.

Exciting games entered into the spirit, and a pleasing program of music and readings were pastimes. Mr. Bond made a short talk concerning the relations of the two classes. The Sunday School quartette composed of Fred Gattis, Edgar Shelton, Dr. John Buchholz and Dr. G. N. Cady sang two selections. Mrs. Sam Wheeler, accompanied by Miss Mamie Oakley, sang two numbers. Little Miss Evelyn Eason, talented reader, gave as amusing selections, "Little Mary's Essay on Husbands," and "Getting Up in the Morning." Neuman Leighton, university student, also gave two readings, "Romeo and Juliet" and an encore "Willie and His Paw."

The evening was declared by those present to be one of the most enjoyable yet spent.

No Settlement Likely in Soft Coal Meetings

By United Press

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 14—There are no indications of settlement of the contract between operators and miners. Miner representatives are holding out for the four-year agreement. Strike talk among miners was current today. Operators announced that there were only 65,000.000 tons of soft coal on hand against a possible cessation of work.

Norfleets Artists Few Wish to Miss; Play Twice Friday

Misses Helen and Catherine Norfleet and Leeper Norfleet, brilliant young musicians, who will appear here in two concerts tomorrow, and who were expected here last evening, have telegraphed they will not arrive until tomorrow morning, having accepted a concert engagement for tonight at Clarksville.

While here they will make headquarters at the home of Mrs. G. C. Hurst, whose luncheon guests they will be tomorrow noon. They will have rooms at the Rieff home and will remain in Fayetteville only until Saturday morning.

Mrs. Hurst stated today, that because of their fondness for Fayetteville, where they have appeared in concert three times before, and their friendship for her, they have made a special price on the local entertainments, which enable the University to charge only 25 cents for the children's concert, thus placing the rare event within the reach of all. Mrs. Parmelee, school music supervisor, and Mr. Tovey, are urging that every school child—especially those taking part in the music memory contest—attend. In seating attendants tomorrow afternoon, preference will be given to children, and parents accompanying children, but the public is invited.

The Norfleet Trio has probably played before more widely varying audiences than any other similar organization. They have played for millionaires in their homes and clubs, for Western audiences composed entirely of cowboys and ranchers, for tiny lumbercamps in the cold Northwest, for conventional society people, for the prisoners of stat epenitentiaries, for schools, colleges, Universities, and for kindergartens, as well as for factory workers at lunch hours, and for Chautauqua groups. At various times they have played for audiences composed entirely of negroes, Russians, Germans, Bohemians, Swedes, Norwegians, Italians, Spaniards, Irish and Jews.

One of their queerest audiences was at the State Insane Asylum in Central Islip, Long Island. The physicians bring music to their patients regularly because of its quieting effect.

Of the 5000 inmates, all except the violently insane are allowed to attend the concerts, where they evince the greatest interest, but they seem to have no appreciation of musical form and are likely to applaud at any momentary pause. They show, too, the greatest personal interest in the artists and always wish to talk to them.

On the occasion when the Norfleets played there, it was necessary to rush for a train and Catherine found it necessary to run from her dressing room still dressed in her afternoon gown of red velvet, having had time to change only her slippers. A large number had congregated outside the door to get a "close-up" of the artists, and one woman, whose garments were held in place by large and most obtrusive safety pins, looked at her reproachfully and said: "Brown shoes and a red dress!"

Play at Hippodrome

The largest audience ever gathered to hear the Norfleets was one of 6000 in the Hippodrome of New York City.

But, to them, the biggest audience they ever met was in their early days of struggle for recognition. They played in a little Wisconsin town of 150 according to the census. The audience numbered 175.

Children Love Them

When Leonard's "Rooster and Hens" is on one of the Norfleet programs for children, Helen Nofrleet always advises her sister Catharine to be ready to repeat it, for she has always had to do so. Catharine has had many fine compliments upon her violin playing, but that of children from Coast to Coast who demand that she play over again the cackling, crowing, scratching and general content of a barnyard filled with poultry is one of the dearest to her heart. She says that children are the hardest to please but absolutely sincere if they like what you play.

Honored by President Harding

In the summer preceding the death of President Harding, the Norfleets played at the White House with President and Mrs. Harding among the auditors. Few but the world's greatest pianists have been allowed to play on the historic gold piano, and Miss Norfleet was accorded that honor.

ASK COOPERATION FOR STATE MEDIC CONVENTION HERE

Plans for the entertainment of the four or five hundred visitors who are expected here May 20, 21 and 22 when the Arkansas State Medical Society holds its annual convention-meeting here.

The Washington County Medical Society is asking the local civic organizations of Fayetteville to cooperate with the committees on housing and transportation. It will require united efforts, it is pointed out, to house all the visitors expected.

The afternoon and evening of the second day, according to plans of the County Medical Association, who are acting as hosts, will be devoted to social entertainment. A big barbecue dinner at the University Farm is in development, with an afternoon of leisure following, including golf, inspection of the University, inspection of the Methodist Assembly, or trips to nearby points of interest, Tontitown, Prairie Grove, Springdale and other places where entertainment will be provided. Many cars will be needed for this phase of the program.

On the evening of the same day a big dance will be staged, according to annual custom.

The medical convention will be one of the big meetings to be held here during the year. Cooperation of the town boosters should be given to put it across.

BARR'S BAND PLANS TRIPS TO NEAR TOWNS

Trips to various towns for Barr's Fayetteville Band are being planned by Mr. Barr. The local bandsters have worked hard to fit themselves for their musical roles and are looking forward with pleasure to jaunts to other points, which depend only upon sufficient automobiles.

MRS. COFFEY BURIED AT EVERGREEN CEMETERY

Tovey played the funeral music and Mrs. Charles Stone sang "Rock of Ages." Pall bearers were Jeff Davis, W. S. Campbell, S. A. English, J. A. Adams, W. A. Thomas and Mack Lisle. 6-YEAR-OLD TRUCK STILL FULL OF PEP

Although six years old this coming May, the LaFrance pumper truck of the fire department is still full of life and pep, the weekly test showed last night.

Starting from the fire station with 11 men aboard, the truck climbed the hill on St. Charles Stret in high gear, going west on Lafayette Avenue to Gregg Street where a plug was tapped and the firemen put through the regular drill.

Turning back, the big machine climbed West Lafayette Avenue in high, with the 11 men still aboard. In view of the hard service the truck has seen during its period here, firemen consider the performance unusually good. Most fire departments discard a truck after a period of service of about five years, records show.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. White of South Hill Street announce the birth of a daughter, Ida Frances, Tuesday morning.

M'ADOO MEN MEET TO TALK 'NOMINATION'

By United Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 14—A conference between the McAdoo supporters and others on the outside of the party to meet here Monday will determine whether the former secretary of the treasury will stay in the presidential nomination race.

The McAdoo headquarters stated that a call would be made on representatives of the progressives outside the Democratic party, on the farmer-labors and on other liberals.

Starnes, and W. I. Whitty.

FARMERS HELD UP FOLLOWING SHOOTING

Two farmers, who did not give their names, today declared that they were the men held up by two masked bandits, the day following the shooting at the Mitchell Holt home. "We were returning from town to our homes," one of them told Mrs. W. J. Reynolds today. "When the men held us up, took from us all our money and groceries, and ordered us on our way." The rumor that two farmers had been held up leaked back to town, but until now could not be confirmed.

RIFLES, AUTOMATICS, HERE FOR NATIONAL GUARDSMEN

A complete shipment of rifles and pistols for use by Battery A, searchlight unit of the National Guard here, has been received from armory headquarters at Little Rock. The guns will be cleaned by the guardsmen at their next regular drill.

Last night, in addition to being state inspection night, was pay-day night, for the month of December, the only month of the year 1923 drilled. The annual payroll of the battery here brings approximately $6,500 into Fayetteville.

Well, Gentlemen, Why Not? Isn't Turn About Fair Play?

The following was clipped from a New York paper:

LAFOLLETTE LEADING MOVEMENT TO OUST DAUGHERTY; MAY EXCUSE SINCLAIR FROM ANY TESTIMONY

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—Senator Lafollette today led the Senate in an effort to oust Attorney-General Daugherty. The adoption of the Wheeler amendment is arranged for Monday with the Republican leaders standing by Lafollette.

Daugherty made no statement concerning Senator Wheeler's charge that he speculated in oil stocks several times in the past.

Harry Sinclair, oil magnate, may be excused from testifying before the Senate investigating committee on the advice of special counsels. The committee was advised to excuse Fall so that neither he nor Sinclair could claim immunity in court.

Belder Demands Resignation

CLEVELAND, Feb. 22—State Senator George Belder, Ohio campaign manager for Hiram Johnson, today demanded that Daugherty resign. Unless the attorney-general resigns, his whole crowd will be thrashed by the people of Ohio in the April primaries, Belder said.

"The new organization will effect a great saving to the farmers of Northwest Arkansas and will also permit them to carry added protection against tornado and windstorms," H. O. Davis said today. "In the past farmers have had to pay excessive rates for this class of insurance and many have not had the protection because they felt they could not afford to pay the high rate. It is expected that this mutual company will operate on a cost plan, paying approximately only ten cents per year on each $100 valuation of farm property."

Saturday Festival At Mt. Zion to Draw Many from the City

Several little parties of town people are planning to go out to the Mount Zion Mid-Winter Festival tomorrow evening, three miles west of town, half-way to Farmington. The entertainment is to start at six-thirty.

Henry Tovey is planning to go, after the "Mikado" rehearsal, and Mrs. Jay Fulbright has planned a family party for the event. Home-made sandwiches, coffee, cake, pies, candy, etc., will be on sale by the ladies of the community. Booths for the sale of all sorts of knick-knacks will also be erected.

A darksome booth of gypsy design will contain a dark-skinned individual, strangely resembling Charles J. Finger, who will, for a consideration, divulge his opinion concerning the future of all applicants.

The roads leading out past the fair grounds are in excellent condition at present, it is reported, as they have been rolled daily for the past month or so.

Aggies Again Win From Razorbacks

Although Arkansas did not defeat the Texas Aggies at College Station last night, they threw a scare nito the agriculturists. The score of the game, received here by radio, was 35 to 27 in favor of Texas.

Coach Francis A. Schmidt, who usually calls Fayetteville after a game, was unable to get a wire through and the radio was the only agency whereby the result of the game could be secured.

Arkansas has now played four games on the road, winning one and losing three. The Razorbacks go to Houston today to meet the Rice Owls in two games, tonight and tomorrow.

SEC'TY WALLACE MAY BE NEXT TO YIELD PORTFOLIO

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace today refused to confirm or deny reports that he was about to resign from the cabinet as a result of differences with President Coolidge over administration of the farm relief program.

The only comment that he would make was that he had not yet resigned.

Relief Split Cause, Reports

The reports of the proposed resignation are the result of a split which developed at a recent conference on relief measures in the wheat growing belt. President Coolidge endorsed the Norbeck-Burgess bill providing for a $50,000,000 fund to lend to the farmers but failed to approve the Norris-Sinclair bill creating an export corporation to dispose of farm products.

The action caused the "rump convention" of the supporters of the supporters of the Norris-Sinclair bill, in which Secretary Wallace joined.

Lions Celebrate Ladies' Night In Very Rare Form

Through the thoughtfulness of the ladies, "ladies' night" at the Lions Club last night was a one hundred percent feminine affair. The men were men when they arrived but soon after, with hats furnished by the ladies, they blossomed out into very becoming "ladies" and held to that role for the evening. Every Lion was presented with a hat by his lady guest.

The program was in charge of Dr. W. J. Frost, chairman of the entertainment committee of the club, who also presided over the meeting. The features of the entertainment were the selections sung by the Lions quartet, including the Messrs. Shelton, Schilling, London, and Gattis. Mr. Shelton also sang a beautiful solo, "Shadows Deepen, Day Is Done," to which the entire quartet sang the chorus. The musical features were very good.

Other selections sung by the quartet included: "Far Away in the South," "Bendemeer's Stream" and "Kindling Wood." Incidentally Lion London, in addition to his singing, did some lightning mathematics that quite baffled the house.

A cigaret-lighting contest with six Lions and Lionesses competing, a needle-threading contest and other feature games were staged during the evening. The George Washington motif was carried out from the table decorations, through the favors, to the ice dessert course.

After informal jokes, talking, and light entertainment, the Lions and their ladies were served some real "heavy" entertainment. Lion Adams and Lion Rogers, who were left out in the refreshment course, complained about the omissions, and were then ordered to feed each other. They were blindfolded, faced about ten feet apart and given crackers. Rogers won the contest and was awarded a George Washington hatchet.

The ladies of the Methodist Church served a very delightful turkey dinner, with all trimmings and the entertainment was unanimously voted a great success.

NEW FARM AGENT TO STRESS FRUIT, SEED, FERTILIZER

Special attention to better seeds and soil fertilization will be stressed by O. L. McMurray, new county agent for Washington County, succeeding M. W. Muldrow, resigned.

Mr. McMurray arrived here this week and will make his home at 304 Washington Avenue, maintaining an office at the court house. He plans to work in close cooperation with the farmers of this section, and in doing this has agreed to edit for the Democrat and for other county papers a weekly column which will be of special interest to farm men and women. He will also endeavor to keep Saturday practically an office day when he may be found at the court house here by the farmers for conference.

"This section being principally horticultural, I hope to stress this phase of farm interest, but we will not neglect the other three projects of the county agent work, that is: boys and girls club work; live-stock and farm crops," said Mr. McMurray today.

"Mr. Muldrow, who goes to Little Rock as expert live stock man with the extension division of the University, had begun splendid work along all four lines of county agent projects, and it will be my desire to continue as nearly as possible the work he has outlined, with additional stress perhaps placed upon horticultural and farm crop needs, especially in the latter case, the need for better seed and of soil fertilization. I will advocate the use of clover and soy beans for fertilizer and pasture crops.

"In cooperation with the home demonstration agent, Miss Harriet B. King, I hope to work up even a greater interest in the boys and girls pig, bee, dairy, corn, potato and canning clubs, but naturally I shall pay particular attention to horticultural interests in this greatest horticultural section of the state."

Mr. McMurray comes to Fayetteville from Vina, Alabama, his home, and from Blue Rapids, Kansas, where he resigned as agent of Marshall County to accept the local offer. He is a graduate of Alabama Tech, Auburn, from which he holds a B. S. degree, and holds a Master's degree from Ames. For six years he has done county agent work in Iowa and Kansas. He is unmarried.

It is understood that Corbono will submit the matter to Premier Mussolini, who favors the Italian oil interests.

7 3-4 Miles New Altitude Record Set by American

By United Press

DAYTON, O., Feb. 22—Lieutenant James Macready, army pilot, today broke the world's record by climbing 41,000 feet into the air, the flight lasting two hours and three minutes.

The previous altitude record was 36,745 feet, set last fall by Sadi Lecointe, a French aviator. Macready's record is unofficial but the flight was held under the regulations of the Federated Aeronautics, International.

The thermometer on the plane broke at 60 degrees below zero, the mercury having frozen. The plane was equipped with a special oxygen tank to supply air to the aviator.

The engine was probably equipped with a device to compress the rare atmosphere at this height to enable it to run under conditions existing near the ground.

Orville Wright, inventor of the airplane, was chief observer of this record-breaking trip.

SMALLER CARS

One of the pioneer American automobile companies, after a quarter of a century of successful operation, has been obliged to go out of business. Its line of cars will be discontinued altogether.

The reason for this failure is of interest to everybody in the motor industry and everybody using a motor car. The company in question has made a large, heavy car, of a distinctive and exclusive type. The demand for such cars is now said to be dying out. Present-day buyers generally prefer lighter and cheaper cars, even when they can afford larger ones. The tendency of the trade is to appeal to this new taste.

It is a reasonable and desirable development, however unfortunate it may be for some of the old-time manufacturers who have been unwilling or unable to change. It has always been absurd, from an engineering standpoint, to use 50 to 100 horsepower and two tons or more of machinery to carry an average load of two human beings, when a lighter, less powerful car would do the work just as well at half or a fourth of the mileage cost. The smaller cars, too, as traffic difficulties increase, become more desirable because they take up less room and are more easily maneuvered.

Small cars usually sacrifice something in speed and comfort, but the medium-sized cars of today are as speedy and comfortable as the biggest cars were a few years ago, and are improving right along. The car of the future seems likely to be a rather small car, of thoroughly good material and workmanship, embodying all the improvements than can be built in advantageously, and giving a very high mileage per gallon. That will be equally good for owners, traffic and pavements.

GASOLINE PRICES

Investigations of soaring prices are usually in order and sometimes productive of good. It may be so in the case of the inquiry directed by President Coolidge regarding current gasoline prices.

There is no question that crude oil production has fallen off, with the rapid drainage of pools in California, Texas and Arkansas, and that the market price of crude oil has risen. But so has consumption of gasoline fallen off, as it always does, during the winter months. It is well for a disinterested set of inquisitors to find out what the net result is, in available quantity of gasoline, and whether the revered law of supply and demand is really being allowed by the refiners to follow its natural course, or whether refiners are shoving up the price of their product unnecessarily and raising the price they pay for petroleum partly to cloak their profiteering.

The public has been surprised as well as grieved, at the recent running up of retail prices for all the grades of gasoline and other petroleum products, and would like to know the truth about the matter.

SURE CURE FOR TAXES

In spite of the fact that Chicago's tax rate this year is twice as high as it was five years ago, the Chicago Civic Federation discovers that the city council is "slipping toward a spending spree," so that taxes next year will be still higher unless the taxpayers find an effective way of checking the increase.

A great many other cities not so large as Chicago find that their city councils or other governing bodies have gone in for extravagance in many lines of activity. The surest way to stop this reckless spending, says the Chicago Civic Federation, is to protest in unmistakable terms to the aldermen who appropriate the money. If that fails, the next step is to elect in their places others who will consider the welfare of their constituents and of the city as a whole.

Those two suggested remedies probably would work, but they are about as difficult of application as possible. The average taxpayer may hate to pay excessive taxes, he may exclaim privately against extravagance on the part of the local government, and he may think he wants relief in this matter, but he won't make himself personally responsible for his share of the public protesting and the voting which are essential to such relief. That is, he hasn't done so in the past. Almost any time now, however, he may reach the point beyond which he will refuse to go, and then, woe to aldermen or councilmen who heed him not.

1. Obituaries of WASHINGTON CO., AR., Vol IV, 1909-1912, compiled by Barbara P. Easley & Verla P. McAnelly, Heritage Books., p.78 - NUNNELEY, J. B. (from The Huntsville Democrate (Ar.), SAM NUNNELEY returned last week from MARBLE CITY, near HARRISON (Ar.) where he had been to arrange for having a shaft of Marble quarried from which a monument will be cut to be placed at the grave of his Uncle J.B. NUNNELEY who died about 2-1/2 years ago at TEMPLE, TX. The stone is to be taken from property in which MR. NUNNELEY has an interest and from the same quarry out of which ARKANSAS contribution to the great WASHINGTON Monument was made. It is a very beautiful specimen of stone and it is conceded that time is proving it to be the most durable material in the WASHINGTON Monument. It was the deceased MR. NUNNELEY'S request that his last resting place be marked by a stone from this marble (The Springdale News (Ar.), June 25, 1909.

MICKEY WEISE VAUGHAN

Vol II 7 t. Smith Lib

In 1884 Judge Maples was united in marriage to Miss Mattie McQuown, who was born in Kentucky and is a daughter of H. C. McQuown, who removed to Texas but later became a resident of Arkansas. After a short time, however, he returned to Texas, where his remaining days were passed, his life being devoted to the work of the church as a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, South. To Judge and Mrs. Maples have been born six children, of whom Rex and Gip died in infancy. The others are Ree, who is the wife of Fred Howe, a farmer of Carroll county; Ruth, at home; Katherine, the wife of Troy Price, living on a farm in Carroll county; and Joe, a daughter, who is in the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville. The Judge and his wife are members of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, and he is also a loyal follower of Masonry, being a Royal Arch Mason and a past master of his lodge. He likewise belongs to the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and has served as noble grand. He has membership with the Knights of Pythias and with the Anti-Horse-Thief Association and he gives his political allegiance to the democratic party. He has been active in politics from early manhood and has done considerable campaign work. He has attended various state conventions as a delegate and his opinions have long carried weight in the councils of his party. In fact he has been an influential factor in connection with public affairs along many lines and has made valuable contribution to the progress and development of this section of the state. Aside from his farming interests he is now one of the directors of the First National Bank of Berryville, and his cooperation can at all times be counted upon to further any plan or measure for the general good.

SAM NUNNELEY.

Sam Nunneley, a capitalist who is now living retired in Fayetteville, his time being given to the supervision of his invested interests, which include extensive land holdings in Madison county, was born near Huntsville, Arkansas, February 7, 1870, and is a son of Sam Houston Nunneley, who was a native of Arkansas. The mother of Mr. Nunneley of this review bore the maiden name of Rachel Elizabeth Bowman and is a native of Tennessee. The grandfather in the paternal line was Joseph Alexander Nunneley, a native of Hickman county, Tennessee, who became one of the pioneer residents of Carroll and Madison counties, Arkansas, where he followed farming to the time of his death. At one time he served as sheriff of Carroll county. The maternal grand-*father, James Elton Bowman, was also born in Tennessee and became one of the early residents of Madison county, where he devoted his attention to agricultural pursuits and to the practice of law. Sam Houston Nunneley was reared and educated in Arkansas and in 1861 entered the Confederate army, with which he served throughout the war. He served as first lieutenant and was captured and for thirteen months was incarcerated in Camp Morton prison, Indiana, escaping in August, 1864. He was a physician by profession and continued in the practice of medicine at Dardanelle, Arkansas, until his death, which occurred in 1872. His political allegiance was given to the democratic party.

In his youthful days Sam Nunneley attended the schools of Madison, Carroll and Washington counties and when eighteen years of age took up the profession of teaching, which he followed for a time, while later he turned his attention to merchandising. He was afterward called to the office of circuit clerk of Madison county in 1896, in which position he served for four years, and following his retirement from office in 1900 he organized the First National Bank of Huntsville, becoming cashier, in which capacity he continued to serve for a decade. He then severed his connection with that institution and organized the Farmers & Merchants Bank of Huntsville, in March, 1911, of which he was president for five years. He thoroughly studied every phase and problem of the banking business and displayed marked capability in the management of the financial interests under his control. As he prospered he made large investment in land, purchasing farms from time to time, and he still owns twelve thousand five hundred acres in Madison county, thus making him one of the extensive landowners of that section of the state. Most of his land is timber, but he has some farm land which he cultivates.

On April 18, 1897, Mr. Nunneley was married to Miss Mamie D. Lowry, who was born in Huntsville, Arkansas, a daughter of William S. Lowry, who was a pioneer of Huntsville and who served as sheriff and also as treasurer of Madison county for a number of terms. Mr. and Mrs. Nunneley have become parents of three children: Dorothy Baldwin, who died in 1901; Samuel Lowry, now a high school pupil; and Lorin Polk, five years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. Nunneley are consistent members of the Presbyterian church and Mr. Nunneley is also a Mason, belonging to lodge, chapter and council. He votes with the

Dear Glenda,

Sorry for the long long delay - I'm so snowed under with index cards etc I some-times I'll run away from home and forget this cemetery stuff - we are nearing the end but have stopped for the summer. Too hot. Actually, the rounding up of all the details and rechecking is worse than copying stones.

Talked to Norman Powell in Ozark a few weeks ago and found he grew up most of Ozark and knew the Tweedys - But the BIG news is that Robert Tweedy's second wife was Norman's grandmother by Jacob Smith and he put the stones for them in Highland.

Norman is very busy right now as he is working on the big 150th celebration for Ozark July 4, 5 & 6th.

Don't you think this is your Joseph A. Nunley? Norman thinks some of his families might be related to the Nunleys, as they came from the same county in Tenn.

Norman might just have a lot of info for you -

Love,

Virginia

democratic party and was a delegate to the national convention which nominated Woodrow Wilson at Baltimore. He was also appointed deputy Internal Revenue Collector on the 15th of Dec 1917 and filled the office until Sept 11, 1921, when he resigned. In Oct, 1916, he removed to Fayetteville and purchased a beautiful home on Mont Nord. He is now devoting his entire time to his personal interests. He started out in the business world empty-handed. Steadily he has improved his financial condition by his capable management and business ability and today he is one of the prosperous residents of northwestern AR, justly meriting the success that has come to him by reason of the commendable methods he has followed in its attainment.

Joe DeWayne Nunneley

Funeral services for retired specialist E4 Joe DeWayne Nunneley, 27, formerly of rural Caney, Kan., will be held at 2 p.m. Monday, July 25, in the Caney Valley High School auditorium.

Nunneley was born June 12, 1967, in Coffeyville, Kan., to John Dewey and LaDonna Sue (Hicks) Nunneley, Sr. He attended schools in Caney and graduated from Caney Valley High School in 1985.

He enlisted in the U.S. Army in February 1986, graduating from Fort Knox, Ky., in 1986. In March 1986 he received his AIT medical specialist training at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio, Texas. There he received Army commendation medals for pharmacy technician for his dedication to medical duties and his vast knowledge of medical supply operations. His duty station from June 1986 was Fort Ord in Monterey, Calif.

In August 1988 he re-enlisted in the U.S. Army and changed his MOS to veterinary food inspection specialist at Fort Sam Houston, where in June 1989 he graduated as the distinguished honor graduate and was his class leader during training. He was then assigned to duty station Presidio in San Francisco. In July 1989 he received a certificate of achievement for outstanding performance of duty. His last certificate of achievement was for exceptional meritorious service during recovery operations following the San Francisco earthquake of October 1989.

Following his auto accident in December 1989, he was medically retired in April 1991 at Fort Riley, Kan.

Nunneley was also a member of the Church of God in Knoxville, Iowa.

Survivors include his parents, John and LaDonna Nunneley of Chapman, Kan.; one sister, Cindy Nunneley of rural Caney, Kan.; three brothers, John Jr. "Doc" Nunneley and Jim Nunneley, both of Mt. Vernon, Mo., and Jay Dee Nunneley of Chapman, Kan.; sister-in-law Jana (Yearout) Nunneley of Mt. Vernon; a special friend, Bernita Martin of San Francisco; several nieces, nephews, aunts and uncles.

Graveside services will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday, July 26, at Joe Nunneley's countryside estate near Chapman, Kan.

Family visitation will be July 24 at the home of Gene Nunneley, a resident of rural Caney, Kan.

The family suggests memorials to the Kansas Head Injury Association, which may be left with the Graves Funeral Home of Caney, which in charge of the arrangements.

Stolen cattle trial underway

INDEPENDENCE — Extensive security precautions were in evidence as the trial of John Dewey Nunneley got underway Monday in Montgomery County District Court on charges of dealing in $400,000 worth of stolen cattle in 1979.

The 44-year-old defendant, a buyer for Coffeyville Livestock Co. who lives near Tyro, also was accused of conspiracy to commit murder, but this charge was dropped. Sally Pokorny, assistant county attorney, said it was dismissed because of lack of jurisdiction. The charge involved alleged death threats in Missouri against a state witness, Pokorny said.

Nunneley has been free on $150,000 bond since he was charged in February. The trial is expected to last at least a week.

William Meek, Cherokee County district judge, is hearing the case. All three Montgomery County judges disqualified themselves. Their reasons weren't disclosed.

OH! , YOU DO GOOD GIRL...... Have to say I dropped the ball on our line in favor of "going" way back & coming forward. Guess I figured you were still doing a great deal & probably had all this except for Mahulda.. I was so thrillled to such know where they went that I could get back to them later. As to info on John R., I basically had his land record.

Have not been able to be in the office for awhile but they brought me your OK. book and I am so appreciative. I gave it to the guys to read and the picture of JB is so much better than what we had in his "costume" from the Order. Would you like me to share the expense of having John's research done in Ca.? Will be glad to. What a find. Tell me how you came about it - I haven't gotten to searchingCa. before except people entering by ship & maybe a few other items.

While I wasn't out & about, I went thru the Ok. book & marked all the family "familiar" family names. The connections were always constant thru out the years. Using that & the maps really has helped to be convinced where & when they entered & moved along thru the states. It's when people like John & Rhoda strike out so far away that leaves some holes. There was another family of Nunneley's who appeared in those states....Wa, Or., but have to look them up to see what I have.

Do you have anything on Eliza J. Nunneley & her children? If not I will send what I have:

Hi,

I have just recently began to research my family heritage and came across your name on burial sites of what would be my Grandad's (Onnie Nunley also spelled Nunneley) father and brother. I was wondering if you had any information you could share on the Nunneley's. His dad was Joseph Alexander Nunneley Jr and Clementine Nunneley. My Mother was Ruth Nunley daughter of Onnie and Grace Grigg Nunley.
My Mom passed away 2 years ago so I don't have access to much information on my family. We have always spelled their last name as Nunley but see where it has also been spelled Nunneley. On a 1930 census my Grandad was also listed as Clemmie Nunnley.
I would appreciate any information you could share with me. Thank you for your time.

Hi Mary,

Help....Help
Been searching for years for the parents of my Great Grand Mother Mary Nunnelly. I saw your listing on FAG and looking for any info that you might have. Lots of people put my Mary as the daughter of Joseph Alexander Nunnelly and Nancy Easley. Sure fits easy but I have never completly bought in to that. Have her birth in Franklin Co Ark and living on Washburn Scott Co Ark 14 years old and with husband B F Bilton and child. and later in Vineyard Washington Co Ark and then in Johnson Co Texas. Also have seen a few on web sites that list J A Nunneley with 20 childen and always wondered about that.

Any help or even a guess would be very much appreciative.

Thanks

I am looking for information on the parents of Nancy Easly, she was born circa 1806 in S.C. and died in Apr 1850 of a fever.
She married Joseph A Nunley,most likely in Hickman county Tenn.
She may have been part Indian.
She and Joseph moved to Arkansas by the mid 1830's and had lived in Carroll CO 1838,Conway co 1840,Franklin co 1850,also in Madison and Washington counties.
I am afraid thats about all I have,but I do have a picture of a picture of Joseph A Nunley,taken most likely around the 1860's that I have scanned and put here for you,I thought you might get a kick out of it but its not real clear,it is in jpeg form. Larry Bates

Joseph Alexander Nunley,born Sep 9 1802,in Lincoln Co N.C. and died circa 1870 in Arkansas.
Joseph was the son of Anderson Nunley and Martha Baldwin.
Nancy Easley,born Aug 23 1805,in Greenville Co S.C.,died Apr 1850 "of a fever" in Franklin Co Ark.
Joseph was a farmer all his life,although he once served as a Sheriff in Carroll Co Arkansas.
He was one of the pioneer residents of Carroll and Madison Counties in Arkansas.
[from the Centennial history of Arkansas,vol 2 Clarke publishing co 1922]
The 1838 tax lists for Arkansas shows him in Carroll Co.
The 1840 census index shows him in Osage township,Conway Co.

Hi Mary,

It has been a while since I have written and writing to ask a favor of you. 2013 was a very difficult year for my family so family history was definitely put on hold. I haven't done anything at all to be honest. I keep my grandson who is almost 3 all week and that consumes much of my time, weekends I rest to keep up with him. At 62 he keeps me very busy and entertained but sometimes just plain worn out.

My son was diagnosed with a rare genetic disease last year, pompe disease and today we took our daughter to start the testing procedure and pretty sure she will have it to but praying not. It is the late adult onset type and in order for our children to have it my husband and I both have to have a bad gene (dr. description). He was diagnosed at Mayo in Minnesota as 6 doctors in Kansas City could not find out what was wrong. It has taken a major toll on Todd and really thought we would lose him if they didn't find the problem. We finally loaded him up and took him to the emergency room at Mayo where he spent 2 days in intensive care and a week there before the diagnosis. We were asked if we were related and of course said no but then wondered if somewhere in our history there might be a family tie to a Nunley and Barker marriage. I wonder if you have any record of that. Pompe manifests itself in your muscles and breathing. Todd is breathing at 42% right now and has to use a bipap anytime he lays down to nap or sleep. Pompe is a very hard disease to diagnois and usually takes years to get a diagnois and the dr. said years ago was unheard of or so rare people would contribute it to maybe a heart attack. I hope you don't mind me asking. I know if somewhere I inherited a defective gene then there are others who carry it also and the only way it will manifest itself if they marry someone else with a defective gene and their child will have a 25% chance of having pompe disease. Genetics to me is complicated but believe our grandson will at least be a carrier of this disease and will need genetic testing done when he gets married. On top of all this a week after his diagnosis I fell and broke my left hip and had total hip replacement then daughter had to have a thyroid gland removed. The dr. was very confident based on testing it was cancer but God gave us a break and it wasn't so only had to have one gland removed. Now my mother in law has leukemia and given a few months to live and is currently in the hospital undergoing chemo. Life can sure be full of challenges and even if somewhere back in our past Nunley/Barker did marry it isn't going to change anything but might explain how we are both carriers.

Sorry this is so long but couldn't sleep (as usual) and thought I would ask for your help in this. I hope you are doing well and my brother is in the process of moving to Neosho so maybe we will make that trip we talked about and visit with you. Thank you in advance for your help and look forward to hearing from you. Hoping if you pray you will put my children in your prayers. There isn't a cure for this just enzyme replacement therapy but doesn't seem to be helping Todd. He takes infusions every other week and will for life, the cost for his medicine (just medicine) right now is $18,000 per infusion and it is based on weight. I doubt he weight 120 pounds right now. He is going to Duke University in April if his health holds out enough to see the leading genetics in pompe disease and hoping for some suggestions to improve his health. I can't tell you the guilt as a parent that goes along with this to know I passed this on to him and probably Kyndra too, unknowingly but never the less I carry it.

Take care and hope you don't mind me sharing this with you.

Would love to have a visit from you and your brother. Just let me know when you might come to Bartlesville.
No, we did not know Onnie and Grace. Sure my husband's grandparents, E. A. and Sennie probably knew them. Grandpa and Grandma moved from Arkansas about 1898 to Oklahoma, but still had much contact with the Arkansas family.
The name Nunneley has been found with 14 various spellings over the years since they lived in Virginia in the late 1600s. I remember Grandpa Nunneley being very upset that his brother spelled his name Nunley. When I got into genealogy research, I was so amused when I found Elbert Alexander Nunneley who married Melcenia Jane McCollough in Arkansas. Yep....Grandpa and Grandma married as "E.A. Nunley and Senie McCollough". Glad I found it after Grandpa died, so then I did not have to show it to him.
My grandbabes keep telling me I am a very young 81.....not so. I had a heart attack last year and it sure did take the starch out of this lady. But, still keeping busy.
Talk later,
Mary R M Nunneley

Good Day Mary,

I am amazed you are 81 and using internet. My Mom would never touch a computer. I am 61 and afraid I am not keeping up with all the technology changes. I appreciate your offer to share information. I told my brother Wayne about your information and suggested sometime we go visit you and hear about our relatives. He lives at Warrensburg and his wife has offered to help me work on our family tree. I know with the world we live in one cannot be too careful about strangers and totally understand if you don't want to. It would be spring before we would attempt to make that trip. Him and his wife had the flu followed up by a virus so they still aren't feeling well.

My oldest brother James is 72 and remembers the family gatherings better than I do. We used to go to our Grandparents every Sunday and have dinner, all the family except Norma (Virginia) who lived in Kansas. I meant to tell you I believe her name is Virginia but goes by Norma. Do you know if you ever met Onnie and Grace? The Nunley name is slowly dwindling on Onnie's side. My Uncle Bill (Bobby Gene) had a son Robert and he had a son Robert Jr. who was killed in a car wreck when he was I believe 16. He also is buried at New Bethel. I think he may have another son but not sure but if he doesn't that ends the Nunley name from Onnie.

Hope I won't bore you to death. I used to work in banking then quit to keep my grandson and we don't get out much so really miss interaction with people. I was curious if you knew how Nunneley became Nunley.

Have a great day.

Just received your interesting packet of material. I have not had time to read it all, but it is the most interesting Nunneley material I have ever read, so far. Mahulda was certainly a character +. One of the things I did note was her first divorce mentioned that her husband went to CA........this proves what I have always thought. Several of the Nunneley men and in-laws went to CA in the late 1850s.
The picture of Joseph Alexander Nunneley ??? - could be, but how do we prove it ?
A man by the name of Larry Bates is supposed to have a picture of Joseph. If you could find him and compare the pictures, it might be valuable. Larry has stated that Elizabeth Mary or Mary Elizabeth Nunley, dau of Joseph and Nancy Easley Nunley married Benjamin Franklin Bilton. Much of this information was posted on Ancestry by Will Johnson (a professional genealogist). I have had contact with Mr. Johnson with a request for him to make corrections to material concerning my family that he has posted with lots of errors. He refuses..........but did want me to copy everything I had. Not very professional, me thinks.
The Elizabeth Mary/Mary Elizabeth Nunley who married B. F. Bilton is listed on the 1900 census for Johnson Co. TX. Her birthdate is listed as Nov 1844, born in Ark. and her father born in Kentucky and her mother born in Arkansas. On the 1880 census, she says that both of her parents were born in Georgia. The one thing that bothers me about this is that she is listed as MARY C. on the census and we also, know that Mary (dau of Jos. and Nancy) was born on 26 May 1846, not Nov. 1844. Mary's sister, Eliza was born in 1844.
Speaking of Eliza, finally found her and family in Illinois in 1880. From the births of the children, they apparently moved from Butler Co. OH to Lawrence Co. IL about 1872/3. Have not looked for them in 1900.
Thanks for the goodies and will spend some time "reading"........
Mary R M Nunneley

Dear Jo,

Finally home from my summer travels and back to genealogy. After returning from Texas, I spent some time with our son and his family in southwestern Oklahoma. I returned last Monday and am trying to catch up on needed correspondence before our daughter has her second baby Nov 1. Our little Sarah is only two, so know Kathleen will need some help with two little ones.

I have found a little on James Nunneley, but very little. From the census record, 1880 Titus Co. TX, IT APPEARS that Lucy Sparks Nunneley, widow of James, married #2 a Robert H. Cochran. You said on your family group sheet for James that she married #2 John Cochran. Also, according to the census, Ida is shown as being older than Joseph.. It appears that she was born ca 1871 and the 1900 census says that Joseph was born in Dec 1873. I also noted on the 1900 census that Joseph stated that he was the father of four children, only three living. Wonder what the name of the fourth child could be??

I was surprised to find Joseph in Kiowa Co., OK in 1910. I had ordered the 1910 Soundex to look for my husband's Nunneleys and was delighted to find Joseph A. When I went to see my son and family, I went through Kiowa Co. and over a small bridge and stream...OTTER CREEK. The same name as the 1910 township where Joseph and Lilly lived.

Dick's great-grandfather, Lawson Harrison Nunneley, lived in Washita Co. which adjoins Kiowa Co. He apparently moved from Oklahoma Territory to New Mexico and about 1910 (after the census) moved to Mayfield, Beckham Co., OK. He later moved to Foss, Washita Co., but I am not sure as yet exactly what year. James and Lawson were half-brothers so may have had contact when living in the same area of Oklahoma. Several distant cousins(on both sides of Dick's family) still live in that area. I stopped on my way back to Bartlesville and visited with ~~a~~ his cousin. It was our first meeting, though she has provided good genealogical help by letter for several years.

Will close for now and please let me know about Lucy's husband...Robert? or John? Also, do you know anything about Joseph's sister, Ida? Who did she marry??

Will keep looking.

Sincerely,

Mary

Dear Jo,

Sending the first material concerning Joseph Nunneley. I decided to copy what I have on him and will send the material I have on some of the children as soon as I get it copied.

Your information on James being in Bell Co., Texas, arrived at just the right time. My vacation was to spend a week with my aunt in Temple, TX. I was so surprised to find it in Bell Co. I did not find anything on James, but are you ready...Jackson Baldwin Nunneley was a founder of Temple, Texas. I found a great deal of information on him and even found his grave in Temple. Every book I picked up at the library in Temple seemed to mention him. Also, the railroad museum had several items listing Jackson as a founder of Temple. Will send all of that material when I do the children's records.

On the way home, I drove about 100 miles out of the way to go to Quitman (the county seat of Wood Co.). Their records, marriages, deeds, etc., all seem to begin about 1878. The clerk at the courthouse thought there had been a fire at one time. I found no mention of James or Isaac Sparks. The courthouse had a four volume set of Wood County cemetery records...they were not listed in those volumes.

Will close for now and hope you did not give up on me sending the material. It will take some time to copy the children's material, but will as soon as possible. I do not have a copy machine, so must go to the library. I have my own microfilm reader, so can do that at home.

Anxious to hear from you after you read through the material.

Sincerely,

Mary Nunneley

County Clerk
Wayne County
Waynesboro, TN 38485

I would very much like to obtain a copy of an estate settlement in your county which pertains to an Anderson Nunley (Nunneley). I have been told this estate settlement is recorded 2 July 1849, but do not know the county book number. If it is possible to find it by date alone, I would much appreciate it.

I am enclosing a check for $5.00 which I hope will cover copy of this record and a self-addressed, stamped, envelope. If the cost is more, please advise.

Thank you for your assistance.

Sincerely,

Mary Nunneley

THE TWENTY-THIRD PSALM

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.

He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul; He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake

Yea, tho I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff, they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.
